U. S. PRESSURE FOR THAW JUDGE

NEW YORK TO PRESS FOR THAW

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Pressure may be brought to bear through the federal department of Justice upon Judge Aldrich before he gives a hearing on Harry K. Thaw's habeas corpus petition, William Travers Jerome today declared here.

He said that at the conference, he, Governor Glynn and Attorney-General Carmody held to discuss the case, the possibility of appealing to the Department of Justice was taken up.

The particular point upon which the Department of Justice would be asked to exert influence was the intimation of Judge Aldrich that he would take under consideration the question of the "good faith" of New York State in the Thaw extradition proceedings.

"It looks to us as though Judge Aldrich thinks he can arraign the State of New York at the bar of his court and inquire into our motives and purposes in seeking the extradition of Thaw," said Mr. Jerome.

"It seems to us this would be an usurpation of power by federal courts, entirely unjustifiable, under the Constitution of the United States, and would tend to destroy the good feeling among the several States of the Union. It would be a precedent which might lead various States in extradition proceedings to inquire into the question of good faith.

"The possibility of Judge Aldrich taking such a course was considered by Attorney-General Carmody and myself to involve a matter so grave that we have discussed the propriety of submitting the whole matter to the Department of Justice at Washington for such action as may be deemed wise and proper."

"THAW INNOCENT OF CRIME," SAYS EASTMAN, DEFENDING FUGITIVE

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 20.—Edwin G. Eastman, who was Attorney-General of New Hampshire for twenty years up to 1913, in a remarkable discussion of the Thaw case today declares that "Thaw has been judicially declared innocent of crime," and that his "right to freedom under bail—if his freedom is not dangerous to the public safety—is assured to him by the United States Constitution, and the laws of the United States, and of the different States."

The former Attorney-General is the stoutest partisan of Thaw who has come to the front. He denounces the "vertical and belligerent attitude of New York officials, newspapers and medical experts toward New Hampshire courts and judges." He says the New York attitude is "unaccountable."

"It must," he continued, "arise

HUNT MISSING REVERE GIRL

Reject All Seeking French's Position

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Attorney General McReynolds will not approve any of the candidates who have been seeking the position of United States attorney at Boston. To the five active candidates for the place he has found objections which preclude him from making any recommendation to the President, and it is probable that U. S. District Attorney French will be retained until some candidate can be selected. Among the active candidates for the place are: Former Congressman John A. Sullivan, Judge Thomas P. Riley, Francis M. Carroll, Michael L. Sullivan of Salem, and Harvey Pratt.

File Petition for Coldwell Pardon

A petition for the pardon of Joseph L. Coldwell of Brockton, who was given a year in the Worcester jail for participating in the riots in the last Draper Mills strike, has been received by Governor Walsh. The petition is signed by 200 citizens of Brockton. Governor Walsh has referred the petition to District Attorney Stiles of Worcester County for a report.

Former Senator Cullom Is Dying

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Former Senator Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois is critically ill today at his home in this city, and the attending physicians, Drs. Henry P. Parker and Z. T. Sowers, have given up all hope for his recovery. He is suffering from heart trouble and complications. Senator Cullom is eighty-six years old.

Carnegie to Give Malden Church Organ

Andrew Carnegie has notified the trustees of the Maplewood Methodist Church that he will pay one-half of the cost of a new $1,450 organ. The church will raise the other half. This will be the third organ in the city that Mr. Carnegie has given.

John Mitchell to Get Federal Job

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. — John Mitchell, second vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, will probably be the next Commissioner of Immigration at New York. It is expected President Wilson will announce the appointment soon.

TWO VAN FUGITIVES CAPTURED

Charles (Raffles) Ronan and George A. Ward, two of the three housebreakers who escaped from the Suffolk County prison van by ripping up the floor boards while they were being taken to the Charles street jail to await trial, were caught in the Readville freight yards early today by Special Officer Alonzo B. Parker of the New Haven road, who fired several shots before the pair threw up their hands and halted.

William H. (Casey) Jones, the third fugitive from the prison van, is still at large.

It was the official vigilance of the New Haven Railroad in protecting its property from track-walkers that led to the arrest of Ward and Ronan. They were surprised while asleep in a yard engine, where they had curled up for rest and warmth.

At 3 o'clock the firemen, whose duty it was to get the engine ready for the day, walked out in the half-darkness of the yard and climbed up on one side of the engine cab.

As he did so two forms jumbled out the other side and started running up the track.

The firemen yelled for help and Special Officer Parker, who happened to be handy in the yard, came along on the run. Parker sped the fleeing men and gave chase, drawing his revolver as he ran. Parker was able, from his familiarity with the yard, to make speed and to gain on the fleeing pair.

To make sure of stopping the fugitives Parker fired several shots over their heads. At the same time, Charles Foley, night watchman, joined the chase.

Ward and Ronan slackened speed, glanced back and saw two men in pursuit, one ready to shoot again.

Fat, when the pair was lined up before Captain Driscoll of Hyde Park Station at 5 o'clock, to be brought into the city court, the captain recognized them as Ward and Ronan. The two were arrested in connection with a series of robberies in Back Bay apartment houses and also in Sanford and Kennebunk, Me. They pleaded not guilty in court and their cases were set for trial January 26.

Fleet Delayed by Storm Is in Port

A big fleet of schooners and barges, delayed in Vineyard Haven for ten days, arrived in port today. Two Canadian schooners, the Henry Miller and the Charles C. Lister, were towed in. The Lister lost both of her anchors and the Miller was picked up in a sinking condition by the revenue cutter.

Fruit Liner in Port a Day Late

The United Fruit Company liner Tivives arrived in port today a day late, being delayed by northerly gales. She came from the Canal Zone and Jamaica and brought several passengers and a large cargo of tropical fruits.

Favor Sullivan as Police Judge

Gossip at the State House today was to the effect that Charles S. Sullivan will be confirmed as justice of the Charlestown Police Court.

Stubborn Coughs Yield to Father John's Medicine. Soothes the throat.

STRIKING SENTENCES FROM PRESIDENT WILSON'S ADDRESS

At last the masters of business on the great scale have begun to yield their preference and purpose in honorable surrender.

The antagonism between business and government is over.

We desire the laws we are now about to pass to be the bulwarks and safeguards of industry.

Business waits with acquiescence for laws which will prevent such interlockings of directorates as result in making those who borrow and those who lend practically one and the same.

It should be one of the main objects of our legislation to divest such persons (corporation lawbreakers) of their corporate cloak and deal with them as with those who do not represent their corporations, but merely by deliberate intention break the laws.

We are now about to write the additional articles of our constitution of peace, the peace that is honor and freedom and prosperity.

EXECUTION STAY FOR MRS. WAKEFIELD

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Jan. 20.—Mrs. Bessie J. Wakefield, the first woman to be sentenced to death in this State since Colonial times, will not be hanged March 4, the date set for her execution.

By agreement between counsel before the Supreme Court in this city today, owing to the fact that the records in the case were not fully prepared, the hearing of the motion for a new trial was postponed until the March term of the court, which meets in Hartford.

As the case will not be reached at this time so that decision on the appeal can be made, the postponement acts automatically as a stay of execution until the motion for a new trial can be decided.

James Pike, convicted jointly with Mrs. Wakefield of murder of her husband and sentenced to be hanged also on March 4 has not appealed his case, and will undoubtedly be executed on the date set.

RUTH MARTIN, 18, VANISHES FROM REVERE

Ruth Martin, an eighteen-year-old Revere girl, has vanished from her home at No. 314 Proctor avenue, and the police of Revere and Boston were today asked to look for her.

The girl left home two days ago. Her parents had no suspicion that she would not return as usual. That night they telephoned to her friends and relatives in Greater Boston to inquire for her.

It was thought she might have gone to the home of friends in some nearby town, and so for two days no police help was asked.

Yesterday, however, when the girl still did not return, the Revere police were asked to take a hand in the case. After a short but fruitless search the Revere officials appealed to the Boston police for help.

Preparations were made today to send out a general alarm for the missing girl.

The police discovered, it is understood, that the girl had one very intimate man friend, and planned to question this man as soon as they could locate him.

Peabody Man Shoots Alleged Assailant

Louis Gilchouse shot Harry Penchuk five times today when the latter, according to the police, attacked him with a club in the Gilchouse home at No. 24 Buxton street, Peabody. Penchuk's wounds are not serious. Gilchouse claims he fired in self defence. In the local court Gilchouse was held in $1,000 for a further hearing.

Report of Kaiser's Illness Hits Stocks

LONDON, Jan. 20.—A flurry was caused on the stock exchange this afternoon by reports that Emperor William had suffered a paralytic stroke. The report was unconfirmed and was quickly denied. Consols dropped ¼, but recovered.

BEN JOHNSON IN FIST FIGHT AT CAPITOL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Chairman Ben Johnson of the House District of Columbia Committee, and John Shields, a Washington lawyer, staged a fist fight ending in threats of suicide in the district committee room of the Capitol today, during which Johnson's face was badly bruised and Shields received a heavy blow on the jaw.

As the men were separated Johnson broke into the adjoining room shouting: "Give me that pistol. Let me kill him!"

Committee members closed the doors between the two rooms, but Johnson opened it and made no effort to follow Shields into the hallway. Shields was hurried out of the room by members of the committee. The fight was the result of Johnson's characterization of Shields as a lobbyist and Shields' retort that the charge was false.

Johnson struck the first blow and a dozen blows were exchanged before the two men could be pulled apart.

Shields appeared before a sub-committee of the district committee in support of a bill to permit policemen and firemen to ride free on district street cars. Both of the combatants are more than six feet tall and weigh more than 180 pounds.

Prof. Macvane's Funeral at Rome

Anxiety over the illness of his two daughters, and the arrest of one by the Italian government on a spy charge hastened the death of Professor Silas Marcus Macvane at Rome, according to dispatches received from that city where his funeral took place today.

Professor Macvane's death occurred a few days ago at Rome, where his daughters, Dorothy and Edith, are now convalescent after a severe attack of typhoid. From the day they were stricken until he died Professor Macvane scarcely slept.

The American colony at Rome turned out en masse at Professor Macvane's funeral today. Norval Richardson, the second secretary, representing the American Embassy,

DEMANDS NEW LAWS FOR THE REGULATION OF "BIG BUSINESS"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—President Wilson today called upon Congress to pass laws to regulate trusts and combinations of capital. Addressing the Senators and Representatives, he inaugurated the third great reform program of his administration, the others relating to tariff and currency.

The President served notice upon "Big Business" that it must alter its methods to comply with the demands of public opinion. He expressed his wish to have corporations shown how to comply with the law. At the same time he manifested his desire to have the business lawbreaker treated as any other criminal, holding that guilt is personal. Congressional compliance with this declaration means jail terms for violators of the anti-trust law.

Summarized here are the provisions of the President's reform program:

1—Prohibition of interlocking directorates.

2—Government regulation through the Interstate Commerce Commission of the financing of railroads.

3—Elimination of the "rule of reason" by explicitly defining the policy and meaning of the anti-trust law and the penalty for violation of the same.

4—Selection of an interstate trade commission to have administrative control of business to separate monopolies into their component parts without danger of panic, and to do this in aid of the courts or by independent suggestion.

5—Punishment of officers and directors of big concerns or other individuals who bring the business of the country into disrepute and danger.

6—Prohibition of holding companies.

7—Granting of power to individuals injured by trade combinations to found suits for redress upon facts proved by the government against such combinations.

The full text of the President's address follows:

FULL TEXT OF WILSON'S ADDRESS TO CONGRESS

Gentlemen of the Congress:

In my report on the state of the Union, which I had the privileges of reading to you on the 1st of December last, I ventured to reserve for discussion at a later date the subject of additional legislation regarding the very difficult and intricate matter of trusts and monopolies.

The time now seems opportune to turn to that great question

HISTORY CONTEST

WINNERS WILL BE ANNOUNCED IN THE

SUNDAY AMERICAN

February 8th

Big Salaries Are Better Afforded Than Small Ones

No business exists which is not better able to afford big salaries than small ones—for profits are almost invariably in proportion. When this is otherwise, mismanagement often exists.

It is also a fact that opportunities were never greater in the business world than they are today. The demand for efficiency is greater than the supply.

Not a day passes that the American doesn't carry news of opportunity-laden openings among its "Help Wanted" ads. But the richness of their possibilities depends entirely upon the capacity of the cultivator.

Follow the "Want Ads" carefully, therefore, and supplement them, if you house, with one of your own. That's the way to make these columns do double duty as matchmakers between you and opportunity.

WOMAN SUSPECT IN ELLIS SHOOTING.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Jan. 20.—Reports were persistently circulated here today that a woman is to be arrested in connection with the mysterious shooting of Monroe F. Ellis, the millionaire lumber merchant.

NORMAL CONDITIONS ON TRANSVAAL ROAD.

PRETORIA, South Africa, Jan. 20.—Representatives of the Transvaal Railway announced today that normal service has been established.

DETECTIVE KILLS FLEEING BURGLAR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Detective Frank McGhea today shot and killed Dominick Sarabola, who was being pursued by a mob of people following a robbery in the East Side.

FIND NO TRACE OF PALMER AND CREW OF 14

Hope for the Boston five-masted schooner, Prescott Palmer, and the fourteen men aboard was practically abandoned today when the United States revenue cutters Androscoggin and Gresham wired to this port: "No news of the Prescott Palmer."

The two government vessels have been keeping up a search for the ill-fated vessel for a week. They mapped the North Atlantic Coast waters off in parallel lines like a football "gridiron" and covered the sea systematically.

The skipper of the Prescott Palmer, Captain G. A. Carlisle of Boothbay Harbor, Me., was reputed one of the most skilful seamen sailing from Boston. He had a capable crew of thirteen men.

The last heard of the Prescott Palmer was a week ago today, when she was driven past the tip of Cape Cod, at the mercy of a seventy-five-mile northeaster.

With her at the time were the Grace A. Pfeiffer, the Martin and the Northland, all big schooners. Of the four vessels the Northland has been the only one to reach port. The Grace A. Palmer and the Fuller Martin foundered, but their crews were picked up after fearful hardships in open boats.

Dr. Smith to Talk on "Cleanliness"

Dr. Theobald Smith, professor of comparative pathology, Harvard Medical School, will speak at No. 6 Marlborough street, Boston, Thursday afternoon at 4:15 under the auspices of the American Medical Association Public Health Education Committee and the Women's Municipal League of Boston, Departments of Public Health and Food Sanitation. Dr. Smith's subject will be "Scientific and Popular Conceptions of Cleanliness. Their bearing on the Sanitation of Food." This lecture is open to the public.

Again Forbidden to Build Garage

The new ordinance requiring the Street Commissioners to notify abutters in case of petitions for public or private garages resulted today in Jane L. Webb being denied permission a second time to erect a public garage at No. 160 Warren street, Roxbury, near her home. Fifty-eight remonstrants appeared today, headed by Rev. O. Q. Barnham of the Christian Advent Church.

2 SAFES BLOWN IN FIVE BREAKS ON ESSEX ST

A daring robbery in which the offices of five concerns in the four-story building at the corner of Harrison avenue and Essex street were entered between mid night Saturday and early Sunday morning became known today through the efforts of the police to locate the perpetrators.

The places entered were the saloon of M. J. Amberg, and the offices of A. J. Epstein Company, Eagle Cap Company, Saltman & Bookowitz and the New England Panama Hat Company.

Peace Agreement in Cat Quarrel

The controversy between Mrs. Ida B. Freedley of Philadelphia, and Miss Grace Wiswell of Newton, as to whether a certain cat in Miss Wiswell's possession was "Ilegal Sunia," or "Pixey," ended today, according to Elliot H. Church—Mrs. Freedley's counsel—who says the Freedly claim will be allowed. The mixup took place on the steamer Arabic of the Leyland line, when a careless steward, exercising the felines, accidently got them mixed. Mrs. Freedley, a prominent cat-fancier, who has many prize-winning animals, paid $100 for Ilegal Sunia in London.

Claxton Defends Public Schools

WORCESTER, Jan. 20.—Contending that the public school is not a failure, despite the claim of critics, United States Commissioner of Education Claxton, in an address before the Worcester Congregational Club, urged school terms of equal length, proper variety in the curriculum, and a six-year elementary school.

Smoker Derailed in Wreck at Allston

Scores of passengers on an inward-bound train on the Boston & Albany had a fortunate escape when the smoker jumped the rails about two hundred feet west of the Allston station. No one was hurt.

FEED THE HUNGRY SEND MONEY NOW

Money sent to the Boston AMERICAN for the benefit of the helpless Bulgarians and Albanians who are without food and shelter may be sent to the Boston American Bulgarian Relief Fund, No. 80 Summer street, Boston, and will be acknowledged in this paper. All money received will be turned over to the Red Cross Society.

12 Shoplifters Before the Court

Twelve women shoplifters arrested in department stores received various sentences in Municipal court sessions today. Dora E. Lawrence, clothing store in Lowell, and Florence Martin of Worcester, were sentenced to two months in the House of Correction. Sentence was suspended on their promise to return home. Annie Barnwell, and Hattie F. Doulette of East street, Nashua, N. H., were each fined $10. Unable to pay each received a month in the House of Correction. Ellen N. Bates, Saratoga street, East Boston, Annie Kennedy of Bennington street, and Mary G. Connors of Princeton street, East Boston, were each fined $10.

Mrs. Annie T. Dudrell was fined $10. Abbie K. Sheldon, and Annie Aback, of Charlesgate West, and Alice Hill attended, were fined $15 and $15 respectively. Josephine Wade, of Rawson street, Dorchester, and Mary E. Crotty of South Boston were fined $10.

Walsh Considers Court Vacancy

Owing to the death of Judge Nathan D. Pratt of the Superior Court, Governor Walsh has a vacancy to fill Chief Justice Aiken of the Supreme Court on the matter, and an appointment may be made tomorrow. Among those suggested for the place are James H. Carroll of Springfield, William H. Hunt of Lowell and Christopher T. Callahan of Holyoke.

Maine Daughters of Somerville Meet

Mayor and Mrs. Cliff were among the guests at the annual gentlemen's night of the Somerville Daughters of Maine Club at the Y. M. C. A. building. There was an illustrated lecture by Rev. Henry R. Rose of Connecticut, on "The House of Dreams," which deals with the library of Congress.

Appoint Melrose Boy to Annapolis

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Forest T. Sherman of Melrose, Mass., today was appointed a principal for an Annapolis cadetship by Representative Dietrick of Massachusetts. Arthur S. Adams of Winchester, James Knowles, Jr., and Charles D. MacGillivray, both of Cambridge, were named as alternates.

THAW IN ALARM CONFERS WITH HIS LAWYERS

through misapprehension and perversion of this truth as to Thaw's legal status.

"We are not conscious that our courts and judges deserve such criticism nor is there anything in our judicial history which seems to warrant New York officials in throwing stones at the New Hampshire judiciary, Federal or State.

EVELYN TO BECOME CATHOLIC.

Another new development in the Thaw case came today when, according to dispatches from Kansas City, Mo., Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, stung by the criticism of the Rev. Alexander W. Chapotan, a Catholic priest, announced that on her return to New York she would become a Catholic and also have her son Russell baptized in the faith.

Father Chapotan had said from the altar:

"A notorious woman is coming to a theatre in Kansas City. I hope no church members will go to see her, thereby giving their approval of her life."

The Department of Justice will not investigate the extradition proceedings in the Thaw case according to Washington dispatches today.

A high official of the department declared the Federal government would not take a hand in proceedings of this character between two States.

Should Jerome file an appeal with the department nothing will be done unless it submits evidence sufficiently strong to warrant an investigation with a view to the impeachment of Judge Aldrich.

THAW CONFERENCE TODAY.

A conference of the Thaw lawyers is due here today, due, it is said, to the renewed activity of W. T. Jerome, Thaw's Nemesis, Attorney-General Carmody and Governor Sulzer of New York.

Former Attorney-General Eastman, in his remarkable interview, went on to say: "Last August New York had Thaw confined in Matteawan, not as a criminal—he had been judicially declared innocent of crime—but as a lunatic, on the sole ground that it was not safe for him to be at large.

"It appears that Thaw was acquitted of homicide on the ground of insanity and committed to Matteawan as a man unsafe to be at large. So far as any criminal charge is concerned, he stands here as innocent as any one of the 8,000,000 residents of New York.

"After his escape and coming to this State, counsel for New York obtained an indictment against Thaw for "conspiracy to prevent and obstruct justice and the due administration of law," a misdemeanor under the law of New York and elsewhere.

"Extradition was asked and granted solely on that indictment. Counsel for New York admit they cannot legally demand Thaw's extradition on the ground that he is an insane person escaping from New York, nor on the ground that his escape is a crime under the laws of New York; but they rest their claim on the sole ground of an indictment for a conspiracy to escape.

APPROVES ALDRICH MOVE.

"Pending the United States Supreme Court decision, Thaw, still within his legal rights, applied for bail.

"If it is a fact that his liberty under bail would not menace the public safety, then a Federal, New York or New Hampshire judge who refused bail under such circumstances would be liable to impeachment.

"On the question of menace, Judge Aldrich adopted a method frequently urged by medical and legal associations and courts, as a needed reform of procedure in such cases. He appointed a non-partisan commission of three of the most celebrated alienists, with one of the best-known lawyers of New England as chairman.

"They found Thaw was not now suffering from the forms of insanity alleged against him."

TWO GUILTY OF FRAUD IN STAGE OFFER

The "fake" theatrical agencies, moving picture frauds and "phony" teachers of "dramatic art" received another blow when a sealed verdict of "guilty" was returned against Walter C. Green and James W. Riches before Chief Justice Aiken in the Suffolk Superior Criminal Court today.

This is the third conviction of this kind that Assistant District Attorney Thomas D. Lavelle has secured in three weeks.

Green and Riches advertised for an investor in their vaudeville agency business, who was to get one-third of the profits and a $25-a-week job.

John Brand of No. 195 Market street, Lynn, had saved $500 as a shoemaker and baker, but he didn't know when he was well off. He gave his money to Green and Riches for the privilege in the Greene Vaudeville Agency on Boylston street.

According to the State, it was simply a "put up job" on Brand, who was allowed to be doorkeeper until he was "fired" by his own company. He demanded a job and was promised one taking tickets "next August."

Three weeks ago Riches was found guilty, with Irving F. Moore, of conspiracy to defraud. Sentences are pending.

Last week Walter G. Brannaghan was found guilty of larceny from stage-struck girls, by charging $10 for tango pumps, which they never got, by promising grand opera roles, which were "small time try-outs," and by other false promises.

7 Die in Jail Break, Hunt Autoist in Plot

MALESTER, Okla., Jan. 20.—Search is being made today for a mysterious autoist who is believed to have brought revolvers and ammunition to the State penitentiary here, which three convicts used in their daring jail break that cost their own lives and those of four other persons and resulted in the wounding of Mary Foster, the prison stenographer.

One of those killed was John R. Thomas, formerly United States district judge. He was shot by a prisoner.

The other six killed were: D. C. Oakes, deputy warden; F. C. Godfrey, storehouse sergeant; H. H. Drover, record clerk; China Reed, Choctaw Koontz, serving forty years for murder, and Thomas Law.

Governor Fielder Pleads for Economy

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 20.—Governor James F. Fielder, in his inaugural address to the New Jersey State Legislature today, declared for economy in the administration of the State departments, prison reforms for the betterment of criminals, the elimination of corruption in primary elections, amending laws taxing railroads and banks and trust companies, and for scientific development of agricultural pursuits.

British Divers Locate Submarine

PLYMOUTH, Jan. 20.—Naval tugs which have been grappling for the submarine A7, which foundered in Whitesand Bay with eleven men on board, flashed a wireless message to shore today that hawsers had been fastened to some big, heavy object on the bottom of the bay which it was hoped would prove to be the sunken

Malden May Get Real Policewoman

Malden's need of a policewoman to guard the morals of the young girls of the city will be considered by the School Board at its meeting tonight.

Women Ask Court to Tell Cats Apart

The Superior Court of Massachusetts has been called upon to undo the mistake of a steward on the Anglican in mixing the crates in which chinchilla cats belonging to Mrs. Ida V. Freedley of Philadelphia and Mrs. Dexter Wiswell of Centre street, Newton, were being brought here from England. The power of replevin has been tried in vain, Mrs. Freedley's bill recites, because "her cat" has been hidden. Therefore she prays the Court to restrain Mrs. Wiswell from selling her cat and for another order directing the cat be turned over to her.

Mrs. Wiswell has retained former Congressman Powers. In the meanwhile, Mrs. P. Millar of London, who sold both cats, may be able to tell which cat is whose.

State Board Raps Dental Nurse Plan

The members of the State Board of Registration in Dentristry seem disposed to again enter the ring against the "dental nurses" bill in the Legislature and knock a few teeth out of it. Citizens who want "dental nurses," to travel about among the young and the poor and to serve in State institutions, have filed the same old bill in the Legislature.

Says the State Board, in a report out today:

"The real danger lies in the employment of such 'nurses,' not in hospital or dispensary work, but in private dental offices. Under such legislation every incompetent unregistered dentist who may wish to practice in defiance of the law may easily qualify as a 'nurse.'

Armour and Swift Pay $500 Egg Fines

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—For having in their storehouses eggs unfit for human consumption, Armour & Co. and Swift & Co. were fined $500 each. In the same court eight smaller dealers were fined $25 each for the same offense. The court explained that it was the duty of large companies to set an example to the smaller ones and for that reason they deserved severer punishment.

FEDERAL BOARD TO MEDIATE IN BIG BUSINESS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—With President Wilson reading his message in person to both Houses of Congress today on anti-trust legislation, Democratic members of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee and the House Judiciary Subcommittee have determined that several bills be proposed in addition to a measure that would create an interstate trade commission. The latter would serve as an aid to the courts in keeping corporations within the Sherman anti-trust law, and, as President Wilson put it in conversation, "to facilitate the processes of accommodation" as contrasted with "the processes of suit" in dealing with big business.

It was the general opinion in the committees that no measures would be offered amending the terms of the Sherman act as it stands, but that all legislation proposed would be supplemental to that act. After representatives of all parties have been consulted, the bills may be made party measures.

St. Ann's Parish Burns Mortgage

Five hundred attended the fourth annual banquet of the men of St. Ann's parish, Winter Hill, Somerville, when the mortgage paper representing $15,000, the cost of property adjoining the church, purchased in June, 1912, for a parochial site, was burned by the toastmaster, James F. Sharkey. Among the banqueters the Rev. Francis J. Butler, Arthur W. Dolan, registrar of probate of Suffolk County; Rev. Christopher T. McGrath, ex-Congressman Joseph F. O'Connell and Rev. Robert Swickerath, S. J., spoke.

YOUNG SOCIETY MATRON ENDS LIFE WITH BOY

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Dec. 20.—Mrs. Nathan H. Studley, one of the leading young matrons of this city, a college graduate and daughter of one of the best-known Baptist clergymen of the State, killed herself and her four-year-old baby boy, Rector K. Studley, with illuminating gas early today. The bodies of the mother and child were found in the mother's bed, as though in peaceful sleep, by the horrified maid at 8 o'clock.

Medical Examiner Charles H. French pronounced the mother's act suicide.

The only reason put forward for the mother's destruction of herself and her boy is a recent depression which Mrs. Studley has felt on account of ill-health. But neither her physical nor mental condition had been thought grave by relatives or friends.

The shocking double tragedy in the Studley household was not known to Mr. Studley, as he was away. He is a traveling salesman and was scheduled to be in Springfield today. Efforts were made to reach him in that city.

Mrs. Studley was formerly Miss Vera Rector, daughter of the Rev. Frank Rector, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city.

She attended Pembroke College, the co-educational institution connected with Brown University. Then she taught three years at Virginia Union University, Richmond.

TANGO DECALOGUE

Clubwoman's "Shall Nots"

NO SLIT SKIRTS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Charles McCarthy, president of the San Mateo Women's Club, today issued a set of ten commandments for tango dancers. Here they are:

The man should have only one arm around his partner.

The couple should face one another.

They should always remain at an angle.

The girl's right arm should remain at a right angle across her waist line.

The step to be followed should be that of the Parisian tango. All others should be placed under the ban.

Neither dancer should lift the feet higher than three inches.

There should be no rag steps.

All steps outside of the tango should be the old-fashioned two-step and waltz.

Women dancing the tango should not be allowed to wear the slit skirt.

There should be no leaning back or stooping forward on the part of the woman.

CARDINAL AT KILEY-O'CONNOR WEDDING MASS

Miss Bertha O'Conner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Connor, of Fremont street, Brookline, and John G. Kiley, the city's real estate expert, were married today in St. Aidan's Church, Brookline. Cardinal O'Connell performed the ceremony. He was attended by Monsignor Edward J. Moriarty and the Rev. Joseph F. Coppinger. The Rev. Dr. John Creagh celebrated the nuptial mass.

The bride wore white satin, with point lace, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and white orchids. Her ornament was a diamond lavalliere, gift of the groom.

The maid of honor was Miss Virginia Sullivan, the daughter of Roger C. Sullivan of Chicago, and the bridesmaids were Mary L. O'Connell, a niece of the cardinal, and Miss Ellen Casey. These three attendants wore white charmeuse and chiffon with black velvet hats and stalks bearing cardinal roses.

Francis Clare of Brighton was best man. The ushers were Dr. John T. Bottomly, Joseph F. O'Connell, John W. Casey, Joseph J. Kennedy, John C. Heyer, Leo Leary, John T. Beatty and Harry Nawn.

Miss Marion Feely sang before and during the ceremony.

The couple will leave on Thursday for a European trip, and returning will live at No. 230 Reservoir road, Beacon Hill.

Mayor Fitzgerald, Mrs. Fitzgerald and their two daughters, Joseph Lomasney, District Attorney Pelletier, Charles F. Logue and the Mayor's secretaries, Edward Moore and Richard F. Field, were present.

Sane Sixth Time; Blames Relatives

After fifteen years spent in eight hospitals for the insane, twice arrested on a vagrancy charge and once on a forgery charge, and five times pronounced sane, Mrs. Maud Raymond Foster, daughter of the late Major Edward P. 5,000 AGAIN AT WORK IN RECORD D. & H. STRIKE

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Normal conditions are rapidly becoming restored today on the Delaware & Hudson Railroad, which was tied up completely yesterday by the shortest and most effective strike on record. All of the 5,000 employes who struck are back at work and it is believed that before night all trains will be running on regular schedule.

It may take several days to relieve the freight congestion caused by the walkout, but the mails are moving as usual. The surrender of the railroad to the demand for the reinstatement of Conductor Slade and Engineer Lynch and the order with which the union leaders conducted the brief struggle were declared to be without precedent in labor annals.

The matter of paying the returning men their back wages has not been taken up, but it is probable that this issue will be settled satisfactorily. They have suspended since June 6, W. W. Kinsley, the member of the Federal Board of Arbitration and Conciliation, who introduced the motion to grant the strikers' demands after the road had been tied up for sixteen hours, and who had expected to settle early all questions of several minor matters in dispute.

AT ONCE! CLOGGED NOSTRILS OPEN, HEAD COLDS AND CATARRH VANISH

Breathe Freely! Clears Stuffed-up, Inflamed Nose and Head and Stops Catarrhal Discharge. Cures Dull Headache.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm." Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness, headache, hawking, snuffling, mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

At any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membranes which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed, nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucus dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

Annual Sale of COATS for Women and Misses

Then, when coat makers were most anxious to get work for their people, we went in armed with ready cash, picked the choicest of the choice and carried them off for tomorrow's event.

Few women need to be told what a coat is worth. Most women know values. There are coats in this sale underpriced so far, we dislike to name their value until you see the coats.

So we ask you all to take our word for some of the best coat values we have been privileged to give this season and come and see them tomorrow, Thursday or Friday. First day's choosing will be best, of course.

Women's Motor Coats, $19.75 | Elderly Women's Broadcloth Coats, $16.75 | Misses' Cut Chinchilla Coats, $14.75 | Misses' Cut Chinchilla Coats, $12.50 | Women's Velvet Wraps, $16.75 | Misses' Cut Velour Coats, $9.75 | Misses' Boucle Coats, $12.50 | Women's Astrakhan Coats, $19.75 | Women's Eponge Coats, $15 | Women's Balmaccan Coats, $15

$10.75 for Women's Long Mixture Coats

Square-corner practical full length coats with set-in sleeves and shaped collar of black velvet. Grays and browns. Lined through.

$12.50 for Women's Astrakhan Cloth Coats

Trimmed cutaway coats of black astrakhan cloth, full lined. Plush frog closing—plush collar and revers. A practical but "dressy" coat and one that is a favorite at its regular higher price.

$19.75 for Women's Fur Collared Motor Coats

Warm great-coats of plaid back mixtures, with deep cuffs and pockets and big shawl collar of raccoon, opossum, civet cat, marten or sable squirrel. The price of the coat hardly covers the value of the fur collar. (Sketched.)

$19.75 for Women's Coats of Imported Astrakhan

Only 30 of them. The material is a fine wool astrakhan that retails for $5 a yard. Made loose but well setting, with fitted kimono-sleeve and high buttoning. Cutaway up-in-the-front and down-in-the back. Lined through. (Sketched.)

Balmaccan full skirted mixture coats. Tailored coats of plaid boucle and cut chinchilla.

$14.75 for Misses' Cut Chinchilla and Wool Plush Coats

Tailored coats of cut chinchilla, with set-in sleeves and a clever touch in the very short back belt. Plush collar and revers. Lined through. (Sketched.)

Full lined wool plush and boucle coats, with plush collar and fitted kimono sleeves.

$12.50 for Misses' Boucle and Chinchilla Coats

Loose "wrappy" boucle coats with big drop-shoulder sleeves and large "elephant ear" collar. Lined with flowered silks. (Sketched.)

Caterpillar-boucle coats that button straight from neck to hem and show a new tasseled cord tie.

Chinchilla coats with yoke back and front. Lined through. (Sketched.)

$5.95 for Misses' $12 Raincoats

Guaranteed raincoats, rubberized with pure rubber. Wool Tweeds and double texture cashmeres, with military collar, detachable belt, and set-in sleeves with wind tabs

Filene's—Fourth Floor

$15 for Women's Eponge and Youthful Mixture Coats

"Toppy" Balmaccan coats in warm plaid-back English mixtures. Very full and smart as to skirt and sleeves, big notch collar, deep patch pockets. A coat for Winter in an early Spring model. Navy, sepia, brown and gray (Sketched.)

Heavy, "honeycomb" eponge dress-coats, with collar and cuffs of velvet and plush buttons. Lined through. Blue, black and brown. (Sketched.)

$16.75 for Elderly Women's New Black Broadcloth Coats

Braided silk-faille shawl collar and cuffs. Full length, with set-in sleeves and square corners; lined through. This coat has been a favorite with conservative women and we have never been able to get enough of them even at the regular higher price.

$16.75 for Women's Velvet Wraps

Beautiful evening and afternoon wraps of broaded and crushed velvet. Sapphire, marine, jacquemiot and brown. Long velvet shoulder collar and cord closing. (Sketched.)

WILSON DEMANDS NEW TRUST LEGISLATION

PRESIDENT TELLS CONGRESS HOW THE SHERMAN LAW SHOULD BE REINFORCED.

not only because the currency legislation, which absorbed your attention and the attention of the country in December, has disposed of, but also because opinion seems to be clearing about us, with singular rapidity in this other great field of action. In the matter of the currency it cleared suddenly and happily after the much-debated act was passed; in respect of the suspicions which have multiplied about us and in regard to the various means by which they have been organized and maintained, it seems to be coming to a clear and all but universal agreement in anticipation of our action, as if by way of preparation making the way easier to see and quick to set out upon with confidence and without confusion of counsel.

NATION'S OPINION IS PLAIN.

Legislation has its atmosphere like everything else, and the atmosphere of accommodation and mutual understanding which we now breathe with so much refreshment is matter of sincere congratulation. It ought to make our task very much less difficult and embarrassing than it would have been had we been obliged to continue to act amidst the atmosphere of suspicion and antagonism in which we so long made it impossible to approach such questions with dispassionate fairness.

Constructive legislation when successful is always the embodiment of convincing experience and of the mature public opinion which finally springs out of that experience. Legislation is a business of interpretation, not of origination, and it is now plain what the opinion is to which we must give effect in this matter. It is not recent or hasty opinion. It springs out of the experience of a whole generation. It has clarified itself by long contest and those who far a long time battled with it and sought to change it are now frankly and honorably yielding to it and seeking to conform their actions to it.

The great business men who organized and financed modern industry, and those who administered it in actual every-day transactions, have ever since it was created now either denied its existence or justified it as necessary for the effective maintenance and development of the vast business processes of the country in the modern circumstances of trade and finance; but all the while business and manufacturers and others but all the while opinion has made head against them. The average business man is convinced that the ways of liberty are also the ways of peace and the ways of success in the end, at least the masters of business on the great scale must begin to yield their preference and purpose, perhaps their judgment also, to the honorable order.

"ANTAGONISM IS OVER."

What we are purposing to do, therefore, is happily not to hamper or interfere with business as enlightened business men prefer to do it, but merely to set it free to do it under the law. The antagonism between business and government is over. We are now about to give expression to the best business judgment of the America to what we know to be the business conscience and honor of the land. The government and business men are ready to meet each other half-way in a new commission effort to square business methods with both public opinion and the law. The best informed men of the business world condemn the methods and processes and consequences of monopoly as we condemn them; and the instinctive judgment of the vast majority of business men everywhere goes with them.

We shall now be their spokesmen. That is the strength of our position and the sure prophecy of what will ensue when our reasonable work is done.

When serious contest ends, when men are united in opinion and purpose, those who are to change their ways of business joining with those who ask for the change it is possible to effect it in the way in which prudent and thoughtful and patriotic men would wish to see it brought about with as few, as slight, as easy and simple business readjustments as possible in the circumstances; nothing essential disturbed, nothing torn up by the roots, no parts rent asunder, which can be left in wholesome combination.

Fortunately, no measures of sweeping or novel change are necessary.

It will be understood that our object is not to hamper useful business or anywhere artificially to break its established courses athwart. On the contrary we desire the laws we are now about to pass to be the bulwarks and safeguards of industry, against the forces that have disturbed it. What we have to do can be done in a new spirit, in thoughtful moderation, without revolution of any untoward kind. We are all agreed that private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable, and our program is founded upon that conviction. It will be a constructive, not a radical or unacceptable program, and these are its items, the changes which opinion has deliberately sanctions and for which business waits:

TO STOP INTERLOCKINGS.

It waits with acquiescence, in the first place, for laws which will effectually prohibit and prevent such interlockings of the personnel of the directorates of great corporations—banks and railroads, industrial, commercial and public service bodies—as in effect result in making those who borrow and those who lend practically one and the same, those who sell and those who buy, the same persons trading with one another under different names and in different combinations and those who affect to compete in fact partners and masters of some whole field of business. Sufficient time should be allow it, of course, in which to effect these changes of organization without inconvenience or confusion.

Such a prohibition will work much more than a mere negative good by correcting the serious evils which have arisen because, for example, the men who have been the directing spirits of the great investment banks have usurped the place which belongs to independent industrial management, working in its own behoof it will bring new men, new energies, a new sense of initiative, new blood, into the management of our great business enterprises. It will open the field of industrial development and origination to scores of men who have been obliged to serve, when their abilities entitled them to direct.

It will immensely hearten the young men coming on and will greatly enrich the business activities of the whole country.

RAILROAD FINANCIERING.

In the second place, business men as well as those who direct public affairs now recognize, and recognize with painful clearness, the great harm and injustice which has been done to many if not all of the great railroad systems of the country by the way in which they have been financed and their own directors have been subordinated to the interests of the men who financed them and of other business enterprises which those men wished to promote.

RAILROADS HAVE SPOKEN.

The country is ready, therefore, to accept and accept with relief as well as approval a law which will confer upon the Interstate Commerce Commission the power to supervise and regulate the financial operations by which the railroads are henceforth to be supplied with the money they need for their proper development, to meet the rapidly growing requirements of the country for increased and improved facilities of transportation.

We cannot postpone action in this matter without leaving the railroads exposed to many serious handicaps. No single thing is the prosperity of the railroads and the prosperity of the country are inseparably connected. Upon this question those who are chiefly responsible for the financial management and operation of the railroads have spoken very plainly and very wisely. What we have a purpose we ought to be quick to accept. It will be one step and a very important one, toward the necessary separation of the business of production from the business of transportation.

The business of the country awaits also, has long awaited, and has suffered because it could not obtain further and more explicit legislative definition of the policy and meaning of the existing anti-trust laws, which hampering business like uncertainty. Nothing daunts or discourages it like the necessity to take chances to run the risk of falling under the condemnation of the law before it can make sure just what the law is. Surely we are sufficiently familiar with the actual processes and methods of monopoly and of the many hurtful restraints of trade to make definition possible at any rate up to the limits of what experience has disclosed. Certain practices, being now abundantly disclosed, can be explicitly and item by item forbidden by statute in such terms as will practically eliminate uncertainty, the law itself and the penalty being made equally plain.

INTERSTATE TRADE BOARD.

And the business men of the country desire something more than that the menace of legal process in these matters be made explicit and intelligible. They desire the advice, the definite guidance and information which can be supplied by an administrative body, an interstate trade commission.

The opinion of the country would instantly approve of such a commission. It would not wish to see it empowered to make terms with monopoly or in any sort to assume control of business as if the government made itself responsible. It demands such a commission only as an indispensable instrument of information and publicity, as a clearing house for the facts by which both the public mind and the managers of great business undertakings should be guided and as an instrumentality for doing justice to business where the processes of the courts or the natural forces of correction outside the courts are inadequate to adjust the remedy to the wrong in a way that will meet all the equities and circumstances of the case.

Producing industries, for example which have passed the point up to which competition may be consistent with the public interest and the freedom of trade cannot always be dissected into their component units as readily as railroad companies or similar organizations can be. Their dissolution by ordinary legal process may oftentimes involve financial consequences likely to overwhelm the security markets and bring upon it hardship and confusion. There ought to be an administrative commission capable of giving advice and shaping such corrective processes, not only in aid of the courts, but also by independent suggestion if necessary.

NOT TO DISTURB BUSINESS.

Inasmuch as our object and the spirit of our action in these matters is to meet business half-way in its processes of self-correction and disturb its legitimate course as little as possible, we ought to see to it, and the judgment of practical and sagacious men of affairs everywhere would applaud us, if we did see to it, that penalties and punishment should fall, not upon business itself to its confusion and interruption, but upon the individuals who are the instrumentalities of business to do things which public policy and sound business practice condemn.

Every act of business is done at the command or upon the initiative of some ascertainable person or group of persons. These should be held individually responsible, and the punishment fall upon them, not upon the business organization of which they make illegal use. It should be one of the main objects of our legislation to divest such persons of their corporate cloak and deal with them as with those who do not represent their corporations, but merely to deliberate intention break the law. Business men the country through, would, I am sure, applaud if we were to take effectual steps to see that the officers and directors of great business bodies were prevented from bringing them and the business of the country into disrepute and danger of disaster.

Other questions remain which will need very thoughtful and practical treatment. Enterprises in these modern days of great individual fortunes are oftentimes interlocked, not by being under the control of the same directors but by the fact that the greater part of their corporate stock is owned by a single person or group of persons who are in some way intimately related in interest. We are agreed, I take it, that holding companies should be prohibited, but what of the controlling private ownership of individuals or actually co-operative groups of individuals? Shall the private owners of capital stock be suffered to be themselves in effect holding companies? We do not wish, I suppose, to forbid the purchase of stocks by any person who pleases to buy them in such quantities as he can afford, or in any way arbitrarily limit the sale of stocks to bona-fide purchasers. Shall we require the owners of stock, when the voting power is exercised by several which ought to be independent of one another would constitute actual control, to make a choice in which of them they will exercise their right to vote? This question I venture for your consideration.

TO AID INDIVIDUALS.

There is another matter in which imperative considerations of justice and fair play clearly call for thoughtful remedial action. Not only do many of the combinations effected or sought to be effected in the industrial world work an injustice upon the public in general; they also directly and seriously injure the individuals who are put out of business in one unfair way or another by the unprincipled and exterminating forces of competition. I hope that we shall agree in giving private individuals who claim to have been injured in this way the right to found their suits for redress upon the facts and judgments proved and entered in suits by the government, where the government has upon its own initiative sued the combinations complained of and won its suit, and that the statute of limitations shall be suffered to run against such litigants only from the date of the conclusion of the government's action. It is not fair that the private litigant should be obliged to set up and establish again the facts which the government has proved. He can not afford, he has not the power to make use of such processes of inquiry as the government has command of. That shall individual justice be done while the processes of business are rectified and squared with the general conscience.

I have laid the case before you, no doubt as it lies in your own mind, as it lies in the thought of the country. What most every candid man says of the suggestions I have laid before you, of the plain obligations of which I have reminded you? That these are new things for which the country is not prepared? No; but that they are old things now familiar and must, of course, be undertaken if we are to square our laws with the thought and desire of the country.

Until these things are done, conscientious business men the country over will be penalized. They are in these things our mentors and colleagues. We are now about to write the additional articles of our constitution of peace, the peace that is honor and freedom and prosperity.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Admiralty has issued an order forbidding any further trips by the "A" class submarines to be believed that the remaining boats of this class will be consigned to the scrap heap.

Miss Wilson Pleads for Social Centres

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson, eldest daughter of the President, rose from her seat in the audience at a civic improvement meeting here and made a plea for the conversion of the schoolhouses of the country opened to the public as "social centres."

GREAT CROWD HEARS WILSON READ ADDRESS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—President Wilson delivered his address on trusts before crowded galleries in the House of Representatives. They had filled long before the hour set for the nation's executive to arrive at the Capitol.

The President left the White House in his automobile at 12:10 o'clock, accompanied only by Secretary Tumulty. Preceding him in another limousine were Mrs. Wilson and the Misses Margaret and Eleanor Wilson, for whom seats had been reserved in the executive gallery.

Under ordinary circumstances the automobile trip between the White House and the Capitol can be made in about twelve minutes, but the President today thought it advisable to start somewhat in advance of his usual schedule on these trips. His purpose in doing this was to allow the reception committee of the House and Senate ample time to greet the President's party when he arrived there. On his last trip to the Capitol this ceremony caused a slight delay.

Today's journey of the President to the Capitol to deliver an address to Congress is his fifth since he assumed office.

SOCIETY TURNS OUT.

Washington society turned out in greater numbers today than any time since the inauguration. Every inch of the space in the gallery that could be secured by members of the official set was occupied long before noon. Members of the Cabinet and their families had seats reserved, while the diplomatic gallery was well filled. In the President's gallery were seated Dr. Cary Grayson, his private physician, and eight friends. The shearing of gowns in the ladies' gallery was particularly remarkable.

Outside of the doors of the house end of the Capitol lines of people stood watching for the President's arrival and noted the appearance of Attorney-General McReynolds, Secretary of Labor Wilson and other members of the Cabinet. The doorkeeper of the House had a bad half minute when an unknown woman demanded entrance. On being told that entrance was by card only she said:

"This is supposed to be a republic, and I have got a right in these galleries. I am going to see about this."

PRESIDENT CHEERED.

The Senate recessed at 12:22 o'clock to go to the House and hear President Wilson deliver his message. A moment before Vice-President Marshall announced that the sergeant-at-arms should carry out the order of the Senate adopted yesterday, providing for a joint session in the House.

In the House presidential gallery were Mrs. Wilson, wife of the President; Mrs. Boyd, her two daughters, Mrs. Wilson and Eleanor, and Miss Helen Woodrow Wilson.

The President entered the House chamber at 12:30 o'clock and was greeted with a great outburst of applause from both sides of the assemblage. The applause continued for almost a minute, the President standing meanwhile and then turning to shake hands with Vice-President Marshall and Speaker Clark, who were seated on the rostrum behind him. Turning then to the assembled legislators, the President at 12:32 o'clock began the reading of his message.

Senators and Representatives sat quietly during the reading of the message up to the point where President Wilson declared the Interstate Commerce Commission should be empowered to regulate the processes by which the railroads of the country are financed. This statement brought forth a burst of applause from both sides of the chamber. It evidently came as a surprise to many of the Democrats who had not answered by the President's discussion of interlocking directorates.

A second burst occurred when the President emphasized the doctrine of personal guilt in violation of the anti-trust laws. His statement that back of every illegal act by a corporation is the fault and the illegal act of an individual was instantly approved. The President completed his message at 12:54.

A tremendous ovation lasting several minutes followed the concluding of his address.

Say Straight Flush Caused House Fire

A straight flush in a poker game so angered James Lovinis and Antonio Pastoria that they set fire to the home of Charles Marino, who held the flush, according to Joseph Fusco, a witness at the preliminary hearing in the case in Lynn today. Fusco at first feared to testify, saying threats had been made against him by the two prisoners. They were held in $1,000 each.

Beardsley Says He Will Surrender

MAYVILLE, N. Y., Jan. 20.—That the cordon of deputy sheriffs which Sheriff Anderson threw around the home of Edward Beardsley, who shot Postmaster Putnam, is not as formidable as appearances indicated was shown today when a newspaper man and a Mayville friend of Beardsley entered the besieged home. Beardsley offered to pose for photographs if paid for it, and also sold his autograph and an interview. In all he "earned" nearly $100. "I am going to surrender tomorrow if my terms are accepted, but my nine children must be cared for," said Beardsley.

Shots and Woman's Screams Cause Panic

The screams of a woman followed by five shots and the sounding of a fire alarm caused a panic at No. 21 Charter street, North End, early today. The police and firemen entered the house together and found Silvue Barthall with a revolver in his hand. Barthall said he heard a woman screaming and thought there was a fire. He declared he fired the shots to arouse the people before turning in the fire alarm.

Paris Gowns Even More Decollete

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Paris correspondent of The Daily Mail wires: "Our latest models are more decollete than any fashions for twenty years past,' says the manager of a famous fashion house. 'They are cut with great depth, not only in front and at the back, but also at the sides beneath the arms. Sometimes there is falling drapery, carried always from the edge of the dress, but this is quite transparent. The tendency is for morning dresses also to be cut with increased decolletage.

"The effect at a casual glance is that of a dress which has accidentally slipped down to just above the waist and is retained by a single thin slip of material negligently over one shoulder. The other arm and the side of the body for three inches below it are left free."

Mrs. Field Given Divorce Decree

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 20.—Mrs. Gertrude Rugg Field, daughter of the late Rev. Henry W. Rugg has been granted a divorce from Frederick E. Field, of the firm of Hopple & Field, architects. She alleged desertion. Mrs Field sets forth in her petition that she had supported herself ten years by doing clerical work and lecturing and writing.

CURLEY CAN BE A GOOD MAYOR OR A BAD ONE

Everybody is wondering what kind of a Mayor Mr. Curley will make. No one can answer the question from the general point of view. To be a good Mayor for the city as a whole, would mean that he must be a bad Mayor for some of the elements which contributed to his success; also to be a good Mayor to some of these elements would require him to be a poor Mayor to others of these elements. Probably no man was ever elected through the fortuitous combination of miscellaneous and inconsistent interests and opinions. We should have to analyze the sources of Mr. Curley's strength at the polls to understand the conditions under which he will enter office and the forces which are likely to operate upon him.

FIRST—Mr. Curley was the candidate of the outs who wanted to get in. Any administration which has lasted for four years is bound to make a great number of enemies through the mere fact that the City government cannot provide jobs and contracts for everybody in the city. Those who have been disappointed or who have never been able to get close enough to be disappointed, always want a change.

NO ROOM FOR THE "OUTS."

In a city like Boston the number of these municipal revolutionists is legion. Any man who is ready to promise everything will get their support, not because they are stupid enough to believe everything he tells them, but because they are willing to take a chance that if he is lying to anybody, he may at least keep his promises to some, and each man is willing to take his chance that he will be among the lucky. At any rate, all the outs know that they have no chance at all under existing conditions and any change must be for the better.

SECOND—It is evident from the examination of the election returns that the city employes, almost in a body, street laborers, firemen and policemen voted for Curley. The inconsistency of their position is plain enough and yet their action is not difficult to understand. It will take years for the city employes to forget the administration of Mayor Hibbard with his economical axe. Any candidate backed by the same men as those who supported Mayor Hibbard will be viewed with terror by the city employes for some time to come.

So it was that Mr. Kenny, who as a member of the city government had voted to increase the city laborers' pay and for pensions and did all things which indicated a favorable view of their demands—Mr. Kenny, the city laborer's son, was looked upon with grave suspicion on account of the company which he kept. In that terror many of the city employes lost their reason and forgot that Mr. Curley must have made promises either expressed or implied to a vast army of men hungry for municipal preferment, which could not be fulfilled except at their expense.

Many city employes openly advocated Mr. Curley's cause for the curious reasons that the high minded Kenny," if elected, would not disturb them even if he found them opposing them, while Curley would have off their heads in a minute. Many city employes have confessed to intimate friends that this was their reason. Those of us who are inclined to feel a contempt for such men, must remember that the fear for one's bread and butter makes cowards of us all.

Mr. Curley's obligation to the outs who helped to put him in and want to get in themselves will pull him one way, while his obligation to the city employes who helped him in once and want to stay in themselves will pull him the opposite way.

THAT "BEER" PARTY.

One of the events which has stirred the imagination and the pride of American school boys for generations was that attack upon the British vessels by Americans disguised as Indians and the throwing over of the tea which the British were trying to force upon the colonies with unconstitutional taxes. Mr. Curley attempted to amuse certain people by declaring that this Tea Party was not an act of patriotism, but the wanton mischief of a crowd of men who frequented a rum shop. Mr. Curley did no harm except to those who did know better than to believe him. The suggestion that we sell the Public Garden indicates that Mr. Curley is in the same frame of mind as when he called the "Boston Tea Party" a "Beer Party."

This can have no direct bearing upon Mr. Curley's conduct in office, but it does indicate Mr. Curley's point of view and his point of view, of course, will very largely determine his conduct.

NEDELKA SIMEONOVA, the Bulgarian girl, who is here to plead for 300,000 sufferers.

Nedelka Simeonova, the ten-year-old girl from Sofia, Bulgaria, to tell Americans how little children and mothers were suffering in her country from hunger is now in Boston.

She plays the violin like an expert. When refugees came into her town after the war, she went around collecting money by giving concerts. Then she would go and play before the homeless and hungry. "I'll play before you to make you happy, but not before I've got you some bread to eat," she said to them.

When seen after playing before the Congregational ministers of Boston in Pilgrim Hall, she told the story of her life.

"I said to my people: 'I'm going to America to play for you. I'll tell the Americans to give me food and clothing. I'll play for them, as I've played for you. I'll tell them that you haven't flour to make bread, that your homes have been burned.'

"When I reached America, I met kind people. They liked to hear my story. I told them of mothers who were starving and not able to feed their babies.

"I have helped with my playing. Every cent I could get by playing the violin I said I would give to the starving children and mothers. There are so many of them. They crowd into the different towns. It is good of Mr. Hearst to have his papers help us.

"I know Boston will like to hear my sad tunes. When I play them I want the people to think of my people. Do help them. Send them clothing or money to get it. You'll be so kind, if you will only help my people."

CURLEY MAY GET NEW YORK BUSINESS HERE

A fortnight before he takes office Mayor-elect Curley is trying to coax big business over to Boston from New York.

Dispatches from Manhattan today relate the personal efforts of the Mayor-elect to persuade some New York manufacturers to move over to Boston. He seeks new industries for this city.

At the office of Mayor Mitchel of New York Mr. Curley described his visit to one big New York shoe manufacturer, who is now considering the Boston proposition.

The dispatches quote the Mayor-elect as saying that Boston is prepared to give away enough land for a manufacturing plant which shall employ not less than 500 hands. He also said that the city will arrange for railroad sidings. Continuing his statement in New York Mr. Curley said:

"I called on one shoe manufacturer and put my proposition up to him. He was very much interested and said that he would take the matter under consideration and discuss it with his Board of Directors.

"In the last few years the city of Boston has expended about $35,000,000 on parks and playgrounds and baths and things of that sort, but it has only spent about $2,000,000 in developing industry. In accordance with my platform promises I am very much interested in developing industry and I have agreed to give $1,000, a tenth of my salary as Mayor, to the fund to provide land for manufacturers who may be induced to come to Boston, where, we think, conditions are ideal, and where there are comparatively no unemployed."

Mr. Curley also conferred with Charles M. Schwab of the Bethlehem Steel Company, which took over the Fore River Ship Building Company a few months ago. The Argentine is a public, which had its dreadnought Rivadavia built at Fore River, is contemplating another battleship.

Mr. Curley wanted Mr. Schwab to tell him that, if the Bethlehem Steel Company gets another Argentine contract, it will have the second dreadnought built likewise at Fore River. He says that, not only did Mr. Schwab give this conditional promise, but assured him that new work and improvements in line for Fore River will mean more work there anyhow.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe are sold annually, but few druggists, if any druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggy and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes, and your locks become luxuriously dark and beautiful—all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth. Gray haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth Sage & Sulphur Hair Remedy and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

Ginter Employes to Give Elaborate Ball

One of the dances of the season which is awaited impatiently by those planning to attend is the fifth annual ball of the Ginter Company employes, which will take place on Wednesday evening, January 28, in Copley Hall. The committee in charge is making unusually elaborate preparations for this year's affair. The proceeds will be devoted to sick benefits and to promoting social features among the employes.

John J. Sullivan, chairman of the committee, is assisted by the following: Frank White, Jere Hannon, Charles P. Daly, Walter Sharpe, Miss Katherine Dorney, Miss Estelle Parks, Miss Mary Howard, C. T. Corrun, Clarence Breckenridge, William Martin, Miss Katherine Sullivan, Miss Anna Hingley, Miss Harriet Hiatt, Miss Teresa Murray.

Volturno Captain Gets Larger Ship

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Command of the Principello, a new and better ship, will be the reward of Captain Inch for the bravery he displayed last October, when the Volturno was burned at sea with the loss of many lives.

GIRLS! GIRLS! YOU MUST TRY THIS! DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

For 25 cents you can make your hair lustrous, fluffy, and abundant.

Immediate? — Yes! Certain? — that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes!—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

Had Lung Trouble and Expected to Die

With the civilized world anxiously seeking a specific for Lung Troubles, the marvelous results brought about through the use of Eckman's Alterative, a medicine for Throat and Lung Troubles, is attracting general attention. For fifteen years Eckman's Alterative has been used and the reports of recoveries in many supposed hopeless cases continue to come in. What is doing a vast amount of good. Read this—

33 B St., Keyser, W. Va.

"Gentlemen—I was taken sick in November, 1908, with a very bad cold and deep spells. The doctor then pronounced my case as Hasty Fever. I grew steadily worse. Had two consultations held over me, and the verdict was that the fever had affected my lungs and that my case was hopeless, only gave me a few months to live. My physician had tried most all kinds of treatment and none did me any good, so he asked my husband if he should go on from trying a proprietary medicine. So I began on your Alterative. I was in bed from November 20th, 1908, until February 20, 1909, and was through using it a long time. Today I am healthy and stronger than ever."

(Signed) MRS. H. K. BRILEY.

Eckman's Alterative has been prized by many years test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Asthma, stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Sold by leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

ATLANTA BOOM FOR A REGIONAL BANK LAUNCHED

ATLANTA, Jan. 19.—Five hundred bankers representing every section of Georgia unanimously approved a resolution proposed by H. T. Howell of Macon, indorsing Atlanta's claims to one of the regional banks to be established under the new currency system.

This action was taken at a luncheon tendered the bankers of Georgia in the Clearing House Association of Atlanta in the Capital City when the resolution was adopted with a shout.

A good day was selected by the managers for thus sending out word to the world that Georgia is standing solidly behind Atlanta. Today was the birthday of Robert Lee, and while Georgia contributed outside the bankers put their seal of approval upon Atlanta's claims.

STARTS FIGHT OFF RIGHT.

This unanimity of sentiment enables Atlanta now to face the federal reserve committee with confidence in the outcome when they reach here next month to listen in detail to Atlanta's claims. It starts the fight off right. The rest of the country should know that Atlanta is enthusiastically vindicating that opinion of her which has been voiced by financial experts in New York, Boston, Washington and Philadelphia, the unanimous opinion of the view that wherever such a regional bank is placed one should be erected here.

There being 500 bankers in attendance at the conference and luncheon, there were no doubt present also Atlanta should be selected in this instance. All of these reasons are to be laid before the secretary of the treasury and his colleagues when they come here in February.

It may not be amiss to recite some of these facts in the Hearst newspapers which have been lined up by the citizens of Atlanta to assist in having a regional bank established here. There was splendid enthusiasm among the bankers today of the manner in which Mr. Hearst has thrown open the use of the publications for Atlanta and her cause.

G. Cooper, secretary of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, gave formal expression to these views in a statement to the staff correspondent of the Hearst newspapers outlining Atlanta's claims.

"GOOD OFFICES APPRECIATED."

"The people of Atlanta," said he, "appreciate the good offices of Mr. Hearst in giving publicity throughout the country to the facts which will cause the organization committee to locate a regional bank here, and I take pleasure in outlining briefly some of these facts.

"Atlanta is the centre of all the great interests of the southern agriculture, manufactures, commerce, trade, finance, insurance, telephones, telegraphs, express companies, etc. Its banking and currency system is extended to place money at call promptly at the disposal of all legitimate business when it is needed, and the taste of treasury notes would be largely eliminated in the products and the trade of the region in which they originate. Their security and prompt payment will depend on the productive power and accumulated capital of that territory.

"More than these elements can be reached within twelve hours of Atlanta than from any other city between the Ohio, Potomac and Mississippi rivers.

"The natural territory of Atlanta includes the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee. This is a well balanced territory with all the elements of civilization. If a Chinese wall were built around it it would be a self sustaining country with more varied industries and interests than any equal area in the United States.

HALF THE COTTON GROWN.

"In this territory more than half the cotton crops and $1,000,000,000 worth of factory products originate. It includes practically all the cotton mills and iron industry of the south, with a large proportion of the lumber and naval stores. Its population is 13,000,000 people and their banking power, including capital, surplus and deposits, is $1,000,000,000.

"Atlanta is the largest and best equipped city in this territory, with more varied industries and more of the elements of business highly developed than any other city between the Potomac, Ohio and Mississippi River. Its banking power is immensely greater and its commerce more far reaching than those of any city in the Southeast.

"The southwestern territory is an economic unit, with a homogeneous population. That is one in sympathy, interest, with institutions practically the same throughout and with highways of commerce centering in Atlanta."

Corcoran and Dyer in Clash on "3 R's"

School Committeeman Michael J. Corcoran and Superintendent of Schools Dyer clashed at the meeting of the School board over just how much instruction in "the three r's" Boston pupils should receive. Mr. Corcoran opposed the play director in the Washington district because he believed the pupils already have too much time on their hands and that they should devote more attention to the "three r's" and less to play.

"The cure of hoodlumism is not in teaching reading and writing," interjected Superintendent Dyer. "What is needed for that is moral instruction to make them considerate of other people."

Bury Mrs. Lemon, Who Barred Doctor

Mrs. Sarah Wood Lemon, seventy-five, who believed the time had come for her to join the spirit of her husband, who died six years ago, and would not have a doctor, will be buried today from her home, at No. 40 Carver street. She had helped hundreds of Boston's "down and outs."

GIRL CENSORS WILL EXPEL TANGOERS AT BOSTON ELKS' BALL

Miss Esther Moran, chairman of the committee appointed to guard against objectionable modern steps at he Elks' ball.

The committee to clarge or prepare rules for the 42nd annual ball of the Boston Lodge of Elks, to be held tomorrow night in Symphony Hall, has adopted a resolution forbidding the dancing of the tango and related dances at the ball. The committee of young women has been appointed to see that those who violate the rule are expelled from the hall.

Jeremiah Murray, chairman of the dance committee, in explaining said:

"There is growing up everywhere a protest against the tango and other freak dances of the day. The Pope has forbidden them, representatives of all churches have united in condemning them, and doctors and thinking men are condemning these dances as outrages upon propriety.

"Even the Legislatures have taken the matter up. We considered it high time that we went on record as opposing it.

The committee has appointed a sub-committee of young women of which Miss Esther Moran is chairman and Miss Elsie Hobdell secretary, to enforce the rule.

"Ocean Real Eden," Says Harvard Man

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 20.—Combatting the Mosaic declaration that life sprang into existence, Dr. L. J. Henderson of Harvard, before a distinguished group of scientists in the Johns Hopkins physical laboratory, asserted that researches extending over many years had convinced him that inorganic matter contained latent life, which probably began in the ocean.

Princess Sails on Canal.

PANAMA, Jan. 20.—Princess Maria Louise of Schleswig-Holstein, the granddaughter of the late Queen Victoria, made a trip in a launch through the canal from Pedro Miguel to Culebra.

Ten Flee Malden Fire in Nightclothes

Fire which did $1,000 damage to the barn in the rear of Harris Slobodkin's home at No. 18 Granville avenue, Malden, and the stored furniture it contained, drove the ten occupants of the house into the street in their nightclothes at midnight and tied up traffic on the Salem street car line for more than an hour. The blaze lighted up the entire district and gave the residents a bad scare. The fact that the wind was blowing away from the house was all that saved it from destruction.

Physician Tells How to Grow Hair

A Well-Known Physician and Newspaper Correspondent Tells How to Promote the Growth of the Hair.

A well-known physician who has made a careful study of the hair recently made the following statement: "It is comparatively easy to stop the hair from falling out, promote its growth and banish dandruff by the following simple recipe which can be made at home: To 7 ozs. of water add a small box of Barbo Compound, 1 oz. of bay rum and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Apply it to the scalp with the finger tips two or three times per week. It not only is excellent as a scalp and hair tonic but it darkens faded, streaked, gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. I use it myself and have no hesitancy in recommending it to my patients. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost." Advt.

WOLCOTT TO BE NAMED ON INSANITY BOARD

According to reports which today found their way downtown from Beacon Hill, Governor Walsh is about to name Roger Wolcott of Milton for a place on the State Board of Insanity. The appointment may be made tomorrow.

Former Representative Wolcott is the son of the late Roger Wolcott, Governor of Massachusetts from 1897 to 1900. Mr. Wolcott is a Republican, as his father was. He is a Harvard man and an attorney at law with offices in State street. He is thirty-seven years old.

The members of the State Board of Insanity are unpaid. They perform a tremendous amount of work for the people, having in their control the care of the most helpless and most unfortunate of all the wards of the State.

It is understood that Governor Walsh has offered to Mr. Wolcott the place on the board left vacant by the recent resignation of William F. Whittemore of Boston and that Mr. Wolcott has accepted.

The reform of insane hospitals—perhaps a reform of the entire method of dealing with the insane—is in the air. Mr. Wolcott, experienced legislator, young, strong, able and anxious to serve his State, is, in the opinion of Governor Walsh, the man of the hour for this situation.

Gas Exploded by Candle Injures Man

Gas exploded by a lighted candle he was carrying while getting an armful of wood in the basement of No. 17 Greenville place early today inflicted terrible burns upon the head, face and arms of Angelo Conati. He was taken to City Hospital and placed on the dangerous list. The police say the explosion resulted from a leakage of gas into the basement from a street main.

Andania Due Thursday.

The Cunard liner Andania was reported today by wireless as she left Halifax early tomorrow morning and will arrive here Thursday.

"L" WILL AID WORKERS FOR CHURCH DAY

The Boston Elevated will put 3,000 Go-to-Church-Day cards in its cars during the present week.

This was announced at the mass meeting of Boston ministers in Pilgrim Hall by Secretary E. T. Root. These cards will read as follows:

"Go-to-Church-Day.

"Boston.

"Sunday, February 8, 1914.

"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the House of the Lord."—Psalmist.

Billboards will be pasted up in the different sections of the city. Many of these will be placed in the student section of Boston in the neighborhood of Huntington avenue. Others will be found in the South End. It was reported at this meeting of the ministers that many sections of the South End, when lately visited, presented a type of indifference never before realized, inasmuch as some sections of that district reported that they had never heard anything about the churches.

It is now proposed to make a house-to-house canvass of this locality and a meeting was held in the office of the Rev. Dr. Hobbs, pastor of the Columbus Avenue Universalist Church, when a number of South End ministers outlined the plan for that district.

The Rev. Dr. George L. Cady, president of the Boston Go-to-Church-Day, in his address before the ministers of Boston said:

"To do effective work for the Go-to-Church-Day movement every section should have a group of churches working toward this end. In and around Boston, there will be twenty-five of these groups of churches. Every section can carry out its own scheme of advertising."

The Rev. Dr. Albert Hyde, pastor of the Porter Congregational Church, Brockton, showed how his church was organized into teams to get the people interested in Go-to-Church-Day.

"We've not made it a day, but a season," said Dr. Hyde. "Go-to-Church-Day in Brockton on Sunday, February 1, and continues till Easter. We have twenty-two captains of the teams in my church."

HERLIHY AND KEARNS PLEAD NOT GUILTY

Jeremiah G. Herlihy and John Kearns, Roxbury justices of the peace, who were among the four men secretly indicted Saturday for making false attests on jurats to Kenny and Curley nomination papers and who were arrested yesterday afternoon, were today arraigned before Judge Chase, pleaded not guilty, and were held in $1,000 bail.

A third man of the four indicted is expected to give himself up today. The fourth is sick in bed, and the warrant will not be served upon him until he recovers.

Value T. L. Johnson Estate at $90,881

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Tom L. Johnson, former Mayor of Cleveland, who died in 1911, left property in New York State valued at $212,136, according to the State Appraiser's report. Debts against this estate and expenses of administering brought its net value to $90,881.

New York Elevated Fire Starts Panic

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Fifty passengers on a Third avenue train were panic stricken today when the front car jumped the track and set fire to the elevated structure and to the train, between Pearl and New Chambers streets. Passengers leaped to the tracks. From there they descended on the ladders of firemen.

OCEAN VESSELS TRAVERSED FIFTY-MILE JUNGLE

No one would attempt such a foolhardy thing today. Yet Balboa actually transported four brigantines across The Panama Isthmus just 400 years ago.

To accomplish this remarkable feat, the lives of 2,000 Indians were sacrificed.

Thousands of East and West bound ships can now cross through the Panama Canal without the loss of a single life. The largest ocean-going liners can be accommodated by the gigantic locks, with plenty of room to spare.

The above is but one Panama incident among hundreds of others equally interesting which are entertainingly told in the big complete book

PANAMA AND THE CANAL

In Picture and Prose

No phase of development connected with the history of this remarkable little republic has been overlooked by the author, Willis J. Abbot.

Read about the pirate raids, the intrigues, romance, strife, revolutions, and the important events connected with the building of the great Panama Canal. This is the only book which tells you everything.

I Am Advertising

I came into being as the spoken language came—slowly, gradually and to meet an urgent need. I have been worked for evil, but mostly I have worked for good. I can still be worked for evil, but each day it grows more difficult to so misuse me.

I am at once a tool and a living force. If you use me wisely, I am a tool in your employ. If you misuse me, my double edge will injure or destroy you. If you do not use me, I am a force that works against the aims and purposes that animate your business.

I speak a thousand tongues and have a million voices.

I am the ambassador of civilization, the man-servant of science and the father of invention.

I have peopled the prairie, and with my aid commerce has laid twin rails of gleaming steel in a gridiron across the continent and stretched a network of copper into the far corners of the globe.

I am the friend of humanity—for I have filled the commoner's life with a hundred comforts denied the king of yesterday.

I have brought clean food, healthful warmth, music, convenience and comfort into a hundred million homes.

I laugh at tariffs and remake laws.

I have scaled the walls of the farmer's isolation and linked him to the world of outer interests.

I build great factories and people them with happy men and women who love the labor I create.

I am a bridge that spans all distance and brings the whole world to your door, ready and eager to buy your wares.

I have made merchant princes out of corner shopkeepers and piled the wealth of a Monte Cristo into the laps of those who know my power.

I find new markets and gather the goods of the world into a handful of printed pages.

I fathered the penny newspaper.

I am either the friend or the foe to Competition—so he who finds me first is both lucky and wise.

Where it cost cents to hire me yesterday it costs quarters today, and will cost dollars tomorrow. But whosoever uses me had best have sense; for I repay ignorance with loss and wisdom with the wealth of Croesus.

I spell service, economy, abundance and opportunity; for I am the one and only universal alphabet.

I live in every spoken word and printed line—in every thought that moves man to action and every deed that displays character.

GALA THRONG AT OPENING OF CORT THEATRE

By NICHOLAS YOUNG.

The birth of a new playhouse is not such a common occurrence in Boston as to be regarded in the light of a daily incident—as they do in New York, for instance. No, indeed—here it is an event, which accounts for the unusual flurry that attended the first audience at the Cort Theatre last evening. Between Governor Walsh, who smiled on the proceedings from a box, and Joseph Santley, who did the honors on the stage, the audience was nearly treated to a double bill. At the close of the first act of "When Dreams Come True" the applause was about evenly divided, and it was Excellency accepted the situation by making a speech.

And that was all the poor actors could do.

It was a light-hearted evening at the Cort—not even the fragrant newness of the house or the stubborn heating system could rob the audience of its enthusiastic friendliness. No theatre ever started upon a career with better promise of prosperous future.

MELODIOUS DANCING SHOW.

In these days of a progressive and somewhat acrobatic drama, "When Dreams Come True" proved a safe attraction. It was a melodious dancing show, built around Mr. Santley's joyous youth and nimble feet. Of course, he danced better than he sang, which tonight also said of nearly every other principal in the company. There was a full measure of entertainment in what transpired on the stage, however, but for the most part it leaned heavily upon the dancing numbers. Silvio Hein, who is related to "When Dreams Come True" by reason of being the composer, might have appeared to better advantage had his singers been more faithful to his melodies. One number, which took the title of the production, had an agreeable swing that may mention it with popularity.

Mr. Santley contributed his best assets to the piece. He danced gracefully, acted boyish and enlivened the entertainment with a delightful personality. His chief team mate, May Vokes, brought a new edition of her eccentricity into the spare of the footlights, and if you can believe an audience Miss Vokes was the funniest woman of the season. She climaxed her hold on the house with "The Ain't No Harm in What You Do." A novelty of the evening was a young man named Saranoff, who carried a violin under his arm when he wasn't making it work. He was equally proficient in both rag time and the classics.

TRUE TO STANDARD FORM.

Philip Bartholomae, who write the book and lyrics for "When Dreams Come True," had sufficient faith in his work to produce it himself. He gave it an ample production, with substantial stage settings and a full complement of hard working ladies of the chorus.

As musical comedies go—or come—"When Dreams Come True" was true to standard form. Its story was reasonably consistent, genuinely humorous when the occasion required humor, and refreshingly clean. Mr. Santley gave the performance the benefit of a clean-cut refinement that carried its own reward.

And in this manner did the Cort Theatre formally join Boston's growing family of play houses.

Plays That Remain

"Little Women" continues at the Majestic. It is a pretty picture of Concord in Louisa Alcott's time.

Lew Fields, in "All Aboard," began his final week at the Shubert Theatre last evening.

"Under Cover" is moving serenely forward at the Plymouth. It is melodrama worth seeing.

"Oh, Oh, Delphine!" entered upon its third week at the Colonial Theatre last evening.

"Traffic in Souls" remains at the Globe, where its stirring scenes are attracting large audiences.

"The Whip" is still running at the Boston. This English melodrama continues popular.

Approaching Attractions

Motion pictures of Captain Scott's trip to the South Pole will be exhibited at Tremont Temple, beginning January 26.

Forbes-Robertson will come to the Shubert next week in a repertoire of his popular plays.

"Hawthorne, U. S. A.," will be the next attraction at the Castle Square.

Gaby Deslys and her company will follow Forbes-Robertson at the Shubert.

The tenth annual concert of the Musicians' Mutual Relief Society, with a monster band of 400 pieces, will be given in Mechanics Hall, Sunday evening, February 1.

Annie Russell will bring her company to the Hollis on February 2.

Howard Athenaeum.

"The Parisian Beauties" frisked about at the Old Howard and gave two lively performances. Jack Miller headed the company and amused his audience with a new line of chatter. Vaudeville features were also presented.

BIG WELCOME GIVEN 'YEARS OF DISCRETION'

A Brookline widow, a bit older than she likes to admit, goes to New York to visit a widow friend and to have the fling that Brookline, married life and her son—such a son—had had always denied her.

That's the opening note in "Years of Discretion," the Belasco comedy which is having its first delliously amusing presentation in Boston at the Tremont Theatre.

Brookline seemed to have a good working majority among the audience and this majority—and the minority from elsewhere—was fairly cackling with laughter at the adventures of the Brookline widow with the men she wanted to have make love to her. They did it. But the widow was hard put. Nate Slawson was the widow and, to use one of her own despairing wails: "I'm strapped in with five sets of garters and I can't stand up or sit down."

The effervescent Effie—for she effervesced four speeds forward—was finally reduced to stealing enough to eat to satisfy her Brookline hunger, with the surreptitious aid of the cook and butler.

Finally came the bombardment of proposals, with one climax of comedy piled on another. The closing act is in Brookline and they all go back to "Years of Discretion." Herbert Kelcey, John Flood, Louis Massen, Robert McWade, Jr., Robert Mitchell, Frank R. Barnes, Alice Putnam, Camilla Dalberg and Grace Moore are included in the well balanced company.

Good Vaudeville Bill at B. F. Keith's

George Copeland, the American virtuoso pianist, delighted large audiences at B. F. Keith's Theatre at his first appearance on the vaudeville stage. He played six selections in all and his technique was faultless.

G. Molasso's "playlet without words" was called "The Darling from Paris," with Mario Molasso, Anna Kremser and a company of sixteen dancers, appearing. The act depicts a graceful dancing and closes with a duel between suitors for the hand of Dora, the "Darling of Paris."

Ray Conlin, ventriloquist, kept the audience on edge with his co-partner Terry. Homer Miles and his company presented "On the Edge of Things." Gus Van and Joseph Schenck had a song sketch. Hubert Dyer and company, in a comedy on the rings; Tony Flunting and Corinne Francis, in "The Love Lozenge," and Dorothy Kenton, rounded out the bill.

Waldron's Casino.

Miner's "Big Frolic" was the new attraction at the Casino Theatre yesterday. It was regulation burlesque with the customary trimmings.

Orpheum Theatre.

The bright spot in the new bill at the Orpheum Theatre yesterday was supplied by Clara Vincent and her company in "The Fool." A dozen

Newport Dancer to Wed Aviator Harper

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 20.—At a reception given by Mrs. James J. Brown of Denver the engagement of her niece, Miss Florence Tobin and William Harper, the aviator and president of the Harper Engineering Company of New York, was announced. Miss Tobin is eighteen and Mr. Harper twenty-eight.

Last year Mrs. Brown took her niece to Europe, where she was under the tuition of Isadora Duncan so pleased was the German nobility with her dancing that she received a medallion decoration from the Kaiser.

St. James Theatre.

"The Strongest Tie," a smart playlet, was featured in the new program at the St. James Theatre yesterday. It was only one of a long string of lively acts.

HILLIARD AT THE PARK IN 'ARGYLE CASE'

Robert Hilliard initiated a capacity audience at the Park Theatre last evening into the very latest up-to-the-minute methods of crime detection. It was the initial performance of the thrilling, heart-gripping detective drama, "The Argyle Case."

The audience witnessed the method of taking finger prints and the dictaphone in actual operation on the stage. Besides, with its new helper, the Dictaphone, which records the actual voice and utterances of those against whom it is directed.

Harriet Ford, the playwright, and Harvey J. Gillagins, fiction writer, conceived the unusual plot of having the hero-detective break up a dangerous counterfeit band while solving the Argyle murder mystery. The realism is furnished by Detective William J. Burns, who solves the double problem in precisely the same manner as if it had been brought to his own office for investigation.

Mr. Hilliard as "Never Sleep" Kayton, head of a great New York detective bureau, plays the role of a keen-brained crime investigator who looks, acts and talks like a gentleman. Stella Archer as Mary Masuret, the adopted daughter of Millionaire Argyle, to whom suspicion is first directed as his murderer, plays her emotional role with skill. Olive Oliver, as the wife of the leader of the counterfeiters, and the mother of Argyle's child, shares the emotional honors with the leading woman.

The Holmes Lecture.

The topic for this week's travelogue by Burton Holmes is "Cruising Through the Philippines," which is a description of the most unique array of all of Mr. Holmes' Philippine experiences, detailing the pleasant events of the cruise to the principal islands of the group, visiting the cities of Iloilo and Cebu, and also the various military camps and the Moro villages in Mindanao. An interesting episode of this cruise was Mr. Holmes' visit to the Sultan of Sulu, made famous by George Ade. Mr. Holmes will give "Cruising Through the Philippines" on Friday evening, and again on Saturday afternoon, at Tremont Temple.

Scollay Square Theatre.

Besides the regular organ recital by Richard Henry Warren, the new bill at the Scollay Square Olympia Theatre yesterday contained many attractive vaudeville novelties. One of the best acts was a tabloid farce called "Help Wanted," which introduced William Edmond. A dozen other good features were included in the bill.

Bowdoin Square Theatre.

A motion picture showing the evils of white slavery was featured in the new bill at the Bowdoin Square Theatre yesterday.

JOHN DREW WINS HEAVILY IN 'THE WILL'

You who think you know the real John Drew—you who have him pictured ever as the suavely groomed gentleman comedian making his entrance and his exits in sartorial splendid assurance—it is up to you to see him in "The Will". You have simply been mistaken in the man.

It has been said that the real John Drew visit is a social event. This is not true of the sterling actor's appearance at the Hollis. His work in the inimitable Barrie playlet is a purely histrionic event.

The role of John Drew is an actor with the primest art. The demand on his ability is great. The role is a three-in-one part. "The Will" covers three stages in a man's life. There is the period of middle life, with financial prosperity and newrich snobbishness. Then at the last comes old age with wealth knighthood, but with broken ties, broken spirit and a broken heart.

In all three John Drew ACTS. His acting rings true. He is the youth, he is middle-age, he lives the part of the broken old man. It is a call for superb character work, and Mr. Drew meets it, surprises you, gives you thrill after thrill.

You come to know that Mr. Drew is built of sterner stuff than mere drawing room, dinner coat or riding breeches acting. You have come to know the real John Drew.

And it is no mediocre cast that is balanced about him—Hubert Druce as the old lawyer, Ernest Lawford in an equally splendid actor, and Miss Mary Boland.

The evening begins with four acts of the still charming "Tyranny of Tears." To the acting of the others already named in added that of Laura Hope Crews.

Gaiety Theatre.

Ben Welch and his burlesquers began a week's engagement at the Gaiety Theatre yesterday. The show was one of the brightest that has visited that house this season, with a full quota of amusing comedians and a score of pretty girls, the latter including Mr. Welch's famous female assets. The burlesque comedians present a more substantial assortment of comedy than Mr. Welch and his performances yesterday were joyous and entertaining.

Grand Opera House.

"The Big Beauty Show," with Eva Mull, furnished the fun at the Grand Opera House yesterday. It was spirited burlesque.

'The Purple Lady' Tops National Bill

"The Purple Lady," a musical comedy, is the leading attraction at the National Theatre this week. There is a set of ten, with fetish dancing as the principal feature. It is one of the best presented at the big Washington St. house.

The Four Navarro, sensational wire-walkers, performed their act with grace and ease. Lew Hawkins and Rowan, Blackface comedians, were also on the bill. Their first appearance here this season and earn the patrons a generous assortment of fun.

The rest of the program, as usual very good, included the "Three Lordly Beggars," in song and a half dozen acts of leading quality.

Craig Players Win in Strong 'Hamlet'

John Craig and his company of players have appeared in "Hamlet" many times, but never in the history of the Castle Square company have they presented the play with such finesse accorded them at last night's performance. The exasperants of Mary Young, whose work is so much appreciated by patrons of the theatre, added to the enjoyment.

Mr. Craig, who played Hamlet, never appeared to better advantage. The second act—the play within the play—was the climax of the soliloquy was well deserved.

CHAIR'S SPICY COMMENT ON SPORTING TOPICS OF THE DAY AND MITCHELL'S SIDELIGHTS

RING EXPERTS SAY JOHNSON PICKS A LEMON

Frank Moran, the Pittsburgh heavyweight, who will try to win the world's title from Jack Johnson in Paris next June, hasn't accomplished enough on this side of the Atlantic to make him appear a formidable opponent for the big black.

If Johnson, however, should enter the ring a physical wreck, which he is said to be at the present time, Moran might beat him, but Johnson only half fit ought to outfight the Pittsburgher with considerable ease, in the opinion of sporting men who piddled the match today.

Johnson will be thirty-six years old in March, in which Moran will celebrate his twenty-seventh birthday. The negro is six feet one-quarter inch tall, three-quarters of an inch shorter than the white challenger.

Moran in good condition weighs about 200 pounds, at least thirty pounds lighter than Johnson will be when he enters the ring. Moran's ring record, however doesn't indicate togetheh fighting ability.

JOHNSON TOYED WITH HIM.

He began as a professional in 1910, taking part in fifteen mills. He knocked out four rivals, all unknown, and outpointed others of equal insignificance. Incidentally, he met Johnson in a four round exhibition in Pittsburgh and was a toy in the hands of the champion.

In the Winter of 1910-11 Moran boxed ten rounds in a decision bout with Dummy Maxson and Al Palzer in Brooklyn. He beat Maxson, but Palzer broke even with him. In another Brooklyn bout Jim Savage, a fourth rater, outboxed Moran, who then went to England and France in 1912. He stopped Tom Cowler in six rounds and Charlie Wilson in two both in London, but these men were nothing more than punching bags.

Moran beat Fred Storbeck of South Africa on a foul in seven rounds at a London club, knocking him out in twelve rounds when they met again in that city. Stoker Smith, another dub, was put to sleep in less than a round in Paris.

TONY ROSS BEAT HIM.

When the Pittsburgher returned to America in May of that year he made a poor showing in a ten round affair with Al Kaufman in Olmsay. Tom Kennedy, knocked out by Bombardier Wells, held Moran to a ten round draw in New York. Gunboat Smith and Jim Clumsy Tony Ross got a verdict over him in ten rounds before a Cleveland club. Ross was looked on by "Dominick" Smith in this city last Fall. It took Moran ten rounds to stop Harry Wuest, a big of meat, in Colorado, but he went to Juarez, Mexico, after that and knocked out one Dave Willis in eight rounds.

In August, 1912, Moran tackled Twenty-six Meyer, of Denver, in a four round bout in San Francisco and lost the referee's decision. He whipped Sailor Schuetz and Jim Cameron, obscure California heavies, in Jeffries, and then got a twenty-round match with Gunboat Smith. That affair was staged in San Francisco on December 27, 1912, and Moran lost the chance of a lifetime to become famous by adopting the tactics of a Marathon runner. The Gunboat chased him fruitlessly the entire route and was declared the winner on points.

Moran took part in five battles last year. In March he stopped an alleged fighter named Al McDaniel in five rounds at a New York club. He failed to box Jack Dillon, a fourth rater, in six rounds in Philadelphia, and when he faced the late Luther McCarty in New York in April he was beaten in clear cut fashion in ten rounds. McCarty was killed in a bout with Arthur Pelky the following month.

Tufts Relay Squad Making Fast Time

Captain Teel, Hays, Stafford and Holden will in all probability represent Tufts in the relay race against the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at the Coast Artillery games at the South Armory this evening. No definite selection will be made, however, until the final trials are held on Thursday afternoon. All six candidates for the team are doing close to 80 seconds in practice runs.

School Notes

The St. Mark's hockey team this season is one of the best that has ever represented the Island season. The team has won four straight games and a week from today will improvement. Armour and De Blasi are the stars of the team.

The defensive play of the Boston College High hockey team will have a big bearing on the result in the game against Lexington High, the Lexington school being considered the strongest contender throughout the game and it was only the work of the goal tender that kept Lexington's score down to five.

Captain Viano of the Lexington High hockey team is playing a good game and is showing up as a fast skater, clever stick handler and a sure shot. Cassidy and Hall, the wings, are also playing their leader good support.

Three trials for the English High relay team are still to be held this afternoon and the nine will be selected from the following: Captain McLellan, Lowden, Dupuy, Shulbourne, Scott and Callanan.

The English High hockey team stands to win the school hockey championship this season. Captain Cadby, Mickey Rokella and Doney are all high class players and a look at the line-up shows that the best player in the school ranks. English plays Brighton High this afternoon at Brighton.

Coach Fred J. O'Brien has decided not to enter a relay team in the Arlington Mill games as he could not develop a team so early that would be found to be strong.

Dorchester High and Boston College High relay clash in a set of dual track games on January 30.

The candidates for the track teams of Noble and Greenough and of Browne and Nichols schools will be given their first trials of the season on Thursday afternoon. When the two schools hold a dual meet at Jeffries Point, Noble and Greenough's day school track team will be represented by Captain Bigelow, Clarkson, O. Taylor, Sprague, Green, Ely and Hooper, and Browne and Nichols is represented by a full track team for the first time in place.

SIDELIGHTS ON SPORTS By A.H. Mitchell

IS THE FEDERAL LEAGUE ON ITS LAST LEGS?

FROM SEVERAL INDIVIDUALS has come the statement in the past forty-eight hours that the Federal League will be dead within a week. One of those who made this statement is Charlie Murphy. No one pays any attention to statements from Murphy and if he were the only one to make it, the statement would be only reckoned as hot air from a very windy city.

But Ban Johnson has said the same thing. This will mean because players who are hesitating about jumping to the "Feds"—those who are tempted, but who are afraid to take the plunge—to fit up and take notice.

In spite of the fact that the promoters of the Federal League came out of the "show down" meeting in Chicago with smiling faces last Saturday, there is reason to believe that things are not going along as smoothly as the men interested in the new league would like to have the public think.

This meeting was called at the demand of Charlie Weeghman, owner of the Chicago franchise in the Federal League, who said he would quit unless the promoters of other clubs showed something. Weeghman claims they showed him, but there is a feeling that they didn't show very much and that their smiles upon leaving from the meeting were of the forced variety.

If the Federal League goes "bust up" before Spring comes it will be rather tough luck for Ned Hanlon, of Baltimore. Hanlon has a piece of property which needs leveling before it can be used for building purposes. There is a well grounded belief that Hanlon figured on having the Federal League level the land for him.

"OLD FOX" GRIFFITH GROWS FOXY AT LAST.

CLARK GRIFFITH, THE champion of the world in the matter of swapping ball players, is getting wise to the fact. He is now announced that he has determined never to make another attempt to strengthen his team by purchasing players that other major league teams are willing to sell.

No baseball manager ever swapped or bought more major league ball players than Griffith in his career as manager of the Chicago, New York and Washington clubs of the American League and Cincinnati of the National League. And on every deal he has been "stung" worse than Griffith.

"Grif" was always willing to pay the price (price furnished by the owner of the club), asked for any old job lot of has-beens a rival manager wished to get rid of. "Grif" always left the idea he could handle the players and make the old ones "come back."

In all his swaps and buys "Grif" hardly ever drew a player that was of any use to him. On the other hand, he has picked some prize lemons in his time.

He thought he could make Bill Burns pitch when hunted ball. He was the only manager in the country that thought so. Bill was the pitcher that used to go to sleep on the bench between innings. Bill also will be remembered as the man who never handled a bunt in his life. "Grif" got him and began to pitch him regularly. And the other fellows began to bunt regularly. Finally "Grif" let him go and a Cincinnati poet wrote these lines:

Bill Burns has gone, that good old soul
We never shall see him more,
He won the first two games he pitched
And then, lost forty-four.

SOME LEMONS PICKED UP BY MR. GRIFFITH.

GRIF PAID COR HIS CLUB owner paid $15,000 for Frank Smith, the plane mover, when the "Old Fox" managed the Reds. He bought Jack Lelivelt from the Red Sox. Despite the fact that he was necessary for every club in the American League to waive on Smith (which they did, thus showing that no American League club thought Smith worth bothering with), "Grif" came through with his money for the plane mover. Smith lasted a mighty short time. He won one game, lost several, and then "Grif" canned him.

After George Mullin had outlived his usefulness in Detroit and got so weak that he could hardly get the ball across the plate, "Grif" bought him for the Washington club, according to Washington gossip. It was the Mullin fiasco that finally opened the "Old Fox's" eyes.

Season before last he thought he could stop a gap in his pitching staff with Ray Fisher and Jeff Pelty, who was "all in," and Augusta, who never was "in" at all. Neither turned out to be of any use to the "Old Fox."

These are only a few of the glaring examples of "Griffs" willingness to buy what is known as "old veteran. But now he says, "Never again."

"Griff" is right. There's only one way to build up a ball club and that is by developing the young talent.

HARRY VARDON REBUKES GOLF MANNERS HERE

Harry Vardon, the great English golfer, in an article in the January issue of the Golf Magazine, rebuked the American public for its bad manners while in attendance at golf matches.

Vardon declared that not only at Brookline, where the open championship match was played, and won by Francis Ouimet, but in every other city in America which he and his partner, Edward Ray, visited while on their journey last Summer they encountered mannerisms on the part of the spectators that handicapped the players.

AMERICANS NEED TEACHING.

Vardon did not touch on the incident at Brookline, when it was said that the crowd hounded him in so rightly near the final holes that it interfered with his play, but said in part, in his article:

The American golf spectator has much to learn. A golfer always wants to give the public the best he's got—put up his best exhibition, but the American public will not let him.

Not only at Brookline, but in nearly every other city where Mr. Ray and I played, the crowd never seemed to appreciate good shots and even marvelous playing at times never brought a murmur of applause. But, strangely enough, the crowd frequently would break into cheers when some rotten shots were made.

Before leaving for England Ray declared that the American golf spectator's education related the rules of golf and broke into cheers just when a player was on the point of making some difficult shot, and just at a moment when silence was demanded.

OUIMET'S GREATEST GAME.

Continuing in his article, Vardon said:

It is a pity that people in charge of the golf matches in America do not manage things better. They could find example in the way things were handled when we played at Vancouver, B. C. The spectators there were as keenly interested in the matches as the Americans, yet the crowd was so mannerly, so well instructed in golf etiquette, that it did not cheer until the match was over.

Vardon said a fine compliment to Francis Ouimet, who defeated both Vardon and Ray at Brookline, and Rolland

If Ouimet lives to be a hundred, that game in which he won the championship always will be his most remarkable game. He has a wonderful control of his nerves.

$35,000 Offer for Paris Bout Mere Talk

LONDON, Jan. 20.—It was learned today that no money has been deposited in Paris by guarantors for the Johnson-Moran fight. The statement that wealthy Americans have put up $35,000 is mere press agent talk. The only person financially interested is the organizer, Georges Maitrot. According to the present arrangements, the boxers share in a percentage of the receipts and pictures. Moran has gone to Ireland to train.

RINGSIDE'S Boxing Chatter

JIM FLYNN is picked to defeat Tom Logan in their fifteen-round bout in Staunton, R. I., tonight. The Pueblo heavyweight is not a world-beater, but on paper it looks as though he would be able to vanquish Logan. The Quaker is a willing performer and should carry Flynn along at a merry pace.

TERRY BROOKS was today matched to meet Chick West January 29 in a twelve-round battle in Pittsfield. Brooks and West recently fought a twelve-round draw at Chicopee Falls.

BATTLING LEVINSKY will clash with one Jack Keating in Brooklyn tonight. Levinsky confidently expects to fight about three times a week and unless I miss my guess he will add Keating to his long list of victims.

LEVINSKY has been sweeping all before him in the heavyweight division. Levinsky's success is not due to the fact that he is a second Ben Fitzsimmons, but because the majority of the "white hopes" are jokes, and would be better placed if they had jobs swinging the pick at $1.75 a day.

LEVINSKY will journey to Philadelphia tomorrow evening and meet Jack Lester, one of the choicest lemons in the "white hope" crop.

SPEAKING of picking lemons reminds us that our esteemed townsman, Samuel Langford, Esq., will exchange blows with Petty Officer Curran in Paris Saturday night. The promoters of the tussle, who would make excellent fiction writers, have advertised the bout as a twenty-round affair. Unless Langford is handcuffed or falls asleep, the "go" will probably last five rounds.

BUT at that, Curran should be awarded a Carnegie medal for agreeing to enter a ring with the bone-crusher. It is a feat which even Jack Johnson refuses to perform.

AL SHUBERT, the New Bedford bantamweight, will be a busy young man within the limp ropes this week. Shubert battles Joe Rudreau of Medford in a twelve-round whirl in Lawrence Thursday night, while on the following evening he will meet Joe Morgan in Manchester, N. H. Shubert evidently is out to break Battling Levinsky's record.

WILLIE RITCHIE MAY meet Tommy Murphy in a bout for the lightweight championship on Washington's birthday. And then again he MAY NOT.

THE many friends of Frankie Mack, the popular Boston lightweight, are rooting for him to defeat Frankie Nelson of New York in the fifteen-round bout, which will be staged before the Marsville A. C. in Rhode Island tomorrow night.

THERE will be a boxing show in Augusta, Me., tomorrow night. "Young" Hunce Kelly will clash with Tiger Young, while Pete Foley will entertain "Kid" Denis.

UNICORN RELAY RUNNERS AFTER A NEW RECORD

The B. A. A. will be represented by one of the fastest quarter-mile relay teams in the United States this Winter and will make an effort to lower the world's record for the mile. Coach Jack Ryder has some excellent material to select his team from, for most of last year's veterans will compete again this year.

Tom Halpin will, of course, be the mainstay of the Unicorn quartet. Halpin is one of the best relay runners in the country and has well up to day for the Back Bay club's relay team time and again.

Burns, Meanix, Gram and Merrihew will also be available for this year's B. A. A. team.

All of these men will compete in one or more of the open events at the Coast Artillery games Saturday night and should be at their best when the B. A. A. holds its big indoor track games next month.

Donald Young will not be able to represent the B. A. A. this year as he is studying at Columbia University.

All of the other star athletes of the Unicorn Club will compete in the artillery meet. J. Oliver Johnstons and Harry Barwise will perform in the high jump and should put up a good exhibition, as they are classed with the best high jumpers in the East.

Oscar Hedlund will start in the one-mile handicap race, while Halpin will compete in the 600-yard scratch race for the Pfaff's trophy. He will be opposed by Bingham of Harvard and Higgins of Holy Cross. Halpin will start a favorite, but Bingham and Higgins are expected to carry the New England champion along at a merry pace.

Ted Meredith Not to Race Halpin Here

Tom Halpin and Ted Meredith will not meet in a special quarter mile race at the Irish American A. C. track games.

Meredith said today that he will not be able to compete in Boston a week from Saturday as he will represent the University of Pennsylvania in a meet in Pittsburgh on that day. As for Halpin, he will probably perform in Buffalo the night the Irish American club holds its games.

Halpin did light training today. The B. A. A. captain is running faster than ever and should lower the world's record for 600 yards this Winter.

How Good That MUSTEROLE Feels!

A-a-h! That's delicious relief for those sore muscles, those stiff joints, that lame back.

MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard, and other home simples.

It does the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster, minus the blister and minus the blister!

You simply rub MUSTEROLE on the spot where the pain is—rub it on briskly —and the pain is gone.

No muss, no bother. Just comforting, soothing relief—first a gentle glow, then a delightful sense of coolness. And best of all, no blisters like the old-fashioned mustard plaster used to make.

There is nothing like MUSTEROLE for Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Tonsilitis, Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Headache, Congestion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pains and Aches of the Back or Joints, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chilblains, Frosted Feet and Colds of the Chest (it prevents Pneumonia).

Doctors and nurses frankly recommend MUSTEROLE. It is used in large hospitals.

At your druggist's, in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

Accept no substitute. If your druggist cannot supply you, send 25c or 50c to the MUSTEROLE Company, Cleveland, Ohio, and we will send you a jar, postage prepaid.

CHARLES H. KELLEY, Philadelphia, Pa., says:

"I have great faith in Musterole; indeed I have prescribed it for several of my patients this week; it is a very valuable remedy."

ROBERTSON HAS JOINED SCHOOL IN THE SOUTH

Albert S. Robertson, the Westboro boy, who first gained fame as an athlete while competing in meets here in Boston, has entered Keewatin Institute at St. Augustine, Fla. Robertson is the greatest schoolboy runner in the United States in events up to 440 yards and holds many world's records.

Robertson at one time represented the B. A. A. track team. He competed for Mercersburg academy last year and made a remarkable record. Ted Meredith had shown some remarkable track feats while at Mercersburg, but Robertson surpassed some of Meredith's best performances.

Robertson received Mercersburg Academy last September, but was expelled several weeks ago for breaking some of the academy rules. Gorlet and Cantwell, two other members of the Mercersburg track team, were expelled with Robertson. They, too, have entered Keewatin Institute and will compete on the relay team. A youth by the name of Thoney will complete the quartet.

The Southern school is anxious to compete in the big B. A. A. schoolboy games which will be held in Mechanics building next month, and George Y. Brown, who has charge of the meet, may pit them against one of the strongest New England academy teams.

A. A. U. Plans $2,000 Aid to Oylmpic Fund

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The initial move in the campaign to collect funds for the American Olympic team for 1916 was made when Secretary James E. Sullivan of the Amateur Athletic Union issued a mail vote on the proposition to give $2,000 of the Union's funds to the American Olympic committee. President Lill of Boston has prepared a strong statement advocating the plan.

Brockton May Have Team.

John E. Blake, a Brockton druggist, is willing to back a Class C. team in that city, provided that the proposed Southern New England Baseball League is organized.

GEORGE E. PHAIR SAYS:

B. B. PLAYER SINGING UNTO FEDERAL MAGNATE.

If I but knew
Your words were true,
And time would never leave you broke;
Could I but know
That all your dough
Is not a cold and heartless joke!
If you should fail
To pay my kale
The world would then be dark and blue.
Am I a chump
To go and jump?
If I but knew! If I but knew!

If we were Mr. Weeghman we'd offer a year's meal ticket with every contract. Even a ball player is willing to eat in an armchair luncheroom in Winter.

Napoleon Lajoie says he wouldn't sign with the Federals for $100,000, but we have a hunch that the Federals have it first.

The report that Charlie Herzog will assert his independence reminds us of the ancient wheeze about managers who rush in where angels fear to tread.

While we are not up on ring statistics, we are sure that Jack Driscoll was knocked out by Jim Flynn, is entitled to some kind of a world's record.

We are not surprised to read that Charlie Ebbets is not peeved about the loss of that $15,000. His hilarious laughter can almost be heard at a distance of a mile.

Having developed the habit, we fear that Mr. Ebbets will not be able to refrain from holding a dedication in honor of Joe Tinker's record-breaking jump.

In view of the salary raises due to baseball warfare, you couldn't blame a ball player if he were to take a swift kick at the first dove of peace that ventured into his vicinity.

'Ump' Brennan Quits National for Federal

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—William Brennan, National League umpire, signed a three-year contract with the Federals. Just before he signed he received a telegram notifying him that a new contract with the National League had arrived at his home in St. Paul.

33 Major League Players with Feds

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—A total of twenty-three major league players have signed with the Federal League, according to President Gilmore, eight of them having joined the new organization since Saturday.

BOWLING FACTS AND COMMENT

A great deal of interest is being manifested in the special match game between Bob Mitchell, of Atlas, and Jack Wilson, of Wilson, of Elks' alley, which is to be held at Winthrop, Jan. 27. Mitchell and Ryder and Mrs. Mc-Lellan of Quincy, and Mrs. Fitch and Mrs. Bell of Winthrop, and Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Miller of Winthrop. Jack is a big fellow, and when he rolls the balls in the Elks' alley looks as though the box will have to roll back.

Here is a chance for some of the local bowlers to get into print.

Mr. Goodwin and Wood of Nashua, N. H., challenge any two bowlers in Boston to a ten-string match, the match to be held in Boston. Any bowlers desiring to accept, write to the Hanna Alley, Nashua, N. H.

The Elks' team of Brockton today claimed the championship of the state by defeating the match with the Marston team in the city champions by 100 pins. The Elks' team had the best of the team single and 2,063 for the team total.

The best personal marks at duckpins were 122 and 118, made by Ryder and Mitchell, respectively, in the single string record.

Mercer carried off the honors in the weekly matches of the Mystic Valley League with a single of 556 and a team total of 1,614.

Johnny Kling Is Now Open For an Offer

Garry Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati Reds, today made Johnny Kling, the ex-Boston National manager, a present of his unconditional release, according to a dispatch from Cincinnati. This makes Kling a free agent and if he cares to stay in the ball he may sign with whomever he pleases for this season without the necessity of a trade or purchase price.

A year ago Herrmann gave the Boston Nationals $1,500 in cash and Third Baseman McDonald in exchange for Kling and paid "Noisy Johnny" $7,500 for the season's work. When he signed up Kling—who had announced his intention of retiring from baseball—principally for the purpose of developing his pitchers and steadying his infield, Kling handed Johnson, the Indian, and made a successful flinger of him in mid-season.

It is possible that Kling will not renew his determination of quitting the game so as to devote all his time to his billiard room in Kansas City. Only the big salary of $7,500 induced him to wear a uniform again last season.

Pittsburgh Gets Five Stars in 'Feds'' Pool

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 20.—It was learned today from an authoritative source of the Federal League magnates that there was a pooling of players at the meeting in Chicago last Saturday and that Pittsburgh was one of the most fortunate clubs in the drawing. Five major league players were allotted to the local team that will play under Dr. Harry Gessler, and after the meeting had adjourned for a little town in Illinois to sign up another National League player, who had not agreed to terms over the telephone.

Ketchem Most Admired at Yale.

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 20.—Henry H. Ketcham of Brooklyn, N. Y., captain of last year's Yale football team, is the most popular man in the junior class, according to a vote taken today. Percy G. Cornish, Jr., of Albuquerque, N. M., another member of the eleven, is the most popular man and best, all-around athlete in the class, according to a vote of the Yale academic senior class.

Rheumatic Blood—THE Story That Millions Tell—The Way to Prompt Recovery

There is a host of pills, powders, tablets and what-not for rheumatism, but this remarkable medicine, S. S. S., is the only one that is essential to being a natural medicine. It is the only one that goes to work to begin with, rheumatism is simply a condition of the blood, and is not a matter of pains, and can only be benefited by purifying the entire blood supply with a naturally assisting preventive antidote. True, the pains may be eased with narcotics or the drinking may be neutralized for the time being. But such methods merely deaden the pain, and do not effect a cure. There is a standard rheumatism remedy that can be had in all drug stores under the name of S. S. S. Attempts are often made to sell something similar to this, but no good. Insist positively that you have nothing but S. S. S.

It contains only purely vegetable elements and is entirely free from all mercury, iodide of potash or arsenic.

The recoveries of all types of rheumatism by the use of S. S. S. are a fine tribute to the natural efficacy of this remarkable medicine, for it is assimilated just as naturally as the food we eat, and is one of the most acceptible, most palatable and most wholesome tonics. You do not fail to get a bottle of S. S. S. today. You will be glad you did the results. If your rheumatism is of long standing, you should write at once to consult a specialist, write to the medical department, The Swift Specific Co., 307 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

CAMP SEES LITTLE CHANCE FOR IMPROVEMENT IN FOOTBALL RULES AS THEY NOW STAND

ABERG BATTLES EHRLER IN MAT BOUT TONIGHT

By JACK CONWAY.

LEXANDER ABERG, the Finnish wrestler who has never been defeated, and Frank Ehrler are today for their finish mat bout which will be staged in Mechanics Building tonight. The men have agreed to wrestle under catch-as-catch-can rules and the athlete to secure the first two falls will be declared the winner.

Aberg is well known to Boston's wrestling followers. The mighty Finn made his American debut in this city and since that time he has conquered some of the world's most prominent wrestlers and is in hopes of securing a "go" with Frank Gotch for the heavyweight championship of the world.

In order to get a bout with Gotch, Aberg must defeat Ehrler tonight and he will also be obliged to oppose of Zbyszko. The Finn is confident he will be able to accomplish both of these feats.

ABERG has made his reputation as a Graeco-Roman wrestler. Experts of the mat game believe that there is not a man in the world, with the possible exception of Gotch, who would be able to vanquish Aberg at this style. The title matches, however, are usually contested under catch-as-catch-can rules. Aberg asserts that he is able to go as well at this style of wrestling and he will be given an opportunity to make good his statement tonight.

Ehrler is a giant, standing 6 feet 3 inches and weighing 240 pounds. He was associated with George Lackenschmidt for many years and is not to be handled in declaring that he will win from Aberg.

THERE is considerable interest in the semi-final bout which will be between "Cyclone" Burns of Boston and Franz Gotch-rist. This contest will be limited to an hour and a fall will decide the affair. Gotch-rist and Burns met several weeks ago and the former would have won all of his luck of knowledge of the English language, which prevented him from understanding the referee.

THE curtain raiser will bring together George Lurich, the Russian, and Rosalsky, the burly Hungarian. The men will wrestle 40 minutes.

Paddy Hehir of Worcester will referee the bouts in the absence of Little George Tuohey, who is confined to his home with a broken arm. Mr. Tuohey, who is the only woman wrestling promoter in New England, will have active charge of the carnival.

Investigate Death of Boxer on Coast

SANTA ROSA, Cal., Jan. 20.—Rigid investigation is being made today into the death of Phil Shindler, known to local boxing circles as Sailor Gardner, a welterweight who died Sunday as the result of a knockout blow received in a fight with Charlie Kirby of Canada, in Oakland.

The latter landed a hard overhand swing on the back of the brain and Shindler went limply around the ring from a right uppercut on the jaw and one from Lloyd Linder. Shindler fell to the floor of the ring unconscious.

Shindler's death in the second fatality that has occurred in the boxers of California within the past seven months.

Yanks Sign Williams' Star

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Not only have the Highlanders signed a college pitcher, but they have snatched him from the clutches of Hughey Jennings and Connie Mack. The new man is A. T. Burr, who entered Williams College last Fall.

HOCKEY NEWS AND NOTES

The McGill College hockey team which will play the B. A. A. here on January 31 was defeated in its first college game by Queens College. All-round lack of combination was the main reason for the loss. The score of 6 to 4, pre-season games, is the difference in strength between the two outfits.

Tufts rules the favorite over Tech in the game to be played at the Arena this evening. The win of Hamlet, the clever Tufts forward, will be closely watched as he is one of the best star goal getters in the city.

Ramsay Rankine, the Tufts star, who made such a hit with the local fans last year when he played at the Arena again tonight. Reports has improved over his last season and Rankine is one of the biggest men in the game and a wonder at checking work.

Melbourne, the star of the Cheltenham team which showed Boston hockey fans how to play, signed by the managers of the National Hockey Association Montreal team, is expected to arrive in this city and assume his duties with the team.

Young Lake is one of the greatest players in the N. H. A. and Charlie is not the only player that the Canadian team has secured from the Cheltenham team. Several players have been secured from the Melbourne team and are expected to start the long grind in the near future.

Notre Dame and Yale Elevens Agree to Play

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Jan. 20.—Notre Dame University's football team will play the Yale eleven at New Haven on October 17. The Notre Dame officials say that the agreement for the game has been signed by both institutions.

Holy Cross to Meet Carlisle Next Fall

WORCESTER, Jan. 20.—Holy Cross and the Carlisle Indians will meet in a football game at Manchester, N. H., on November 7 next, according to information given out here today.

RESTORE FIELD JUDGE, URGES WALTER CAMP

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Jan. 20.—Walter Camp, famous Yale coach and football authority who is writing a series of articles for the sporting pages of the Boston AMERICAN, today urged the reintroduction of the field judge as a football official. He declared that the gridiron game had reached such a high standard that he saw little chance for improvement in the rules governing it.

"For two years now," said Mr. Camp, "the rules have remained so nearly stationary that they have had a fair test in actual play and the game resulting has apparently been satisfactory, while still admitting of still further development.

THIRD OFFICIAL NEEDED.

"True, each year brings up some weakness in the wording which must be taken care of in order that the meaning and interpretation may be clear and the rulings uniform. But, apart from this, am an evident necessity of bringing back once more the official known as field judge, whose prominence was supplemental, to that of referee and umpire, and seems to be little call for radical change.

"For reintroduction of this official two rules more necessary because the game made possible under the forward pass and quick kick are beginning to take on such complications and variations that the two officials can no longer be expected to cover every point.

LITTLE ROOM FOR CHANGES.

"They would have to develop a pair of supplementary eyes to see every move of the play so as to rule fairly and understandingly, instead of letting the ruling depend upon what they happen to see.

"Football has reached such a high state of perfection that there is little room for improvement in the rules. Of late years the possibility of injury has been reduced to a minimum, which, incidentally, involves a more open and scientific style of play.

"In this fact lies the possibility for a change in the rules, namely, the introduction of the field judge."

The Manicure Lady

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

"THERE ain't much in the papers lately to keep folks gabbing," said the Manicure Lady. "The Mexico situation is in hock for the present, and there ain't no heiresses disappeared for some time, and Jack the Jabber isn't using the needle none that I can read about. We are about due for something startling to happen, George, and I wonder what it is going to be."

"I ain't got no time to puzzle about the future," said the Head Barber. "The past is hard enough to forget, and the present is hard enough to live in without me fussing about what is going to be."

"Well, I suppose it is foolish to try to pierce the veil of that which lies before us," said the Manicure Lady, "but you know, George, a girl is always more gave to dreaming of the future than a gent is. The only thing you would want to know about the future any, George, would be to know how the fifth race was going to come out, so you could be there powerful with your wager. Girls is more romantic. They are especially romantic when they are single, and the future naturally has more charm for them than it has for married women because they are naturally curious to know what kind of a looking guy is going to lead them up to the altar or to the Justice of the Peace.

"Brother Wilfred knows more about how a girl feels about them things than you would, because he is a push and has a natural as tender as squab. He wrote a poem last week and I got a look at it when it came back from the editor yesterday. All I seen was the first verse, because he jerked the rest of it out of my hand. This is how the first verse went:

"A maiden fair with golden hair
Was gazing at the moon.
'My goodness me!' said she, said she,
'I hope I'll marry soon.'
'I'll grant your boon. You'll marry soon.'
Oh sure not distant day!
But the man you poke will be a joke!'
The moon to her did say."

"I only mention this verse, George, to show that nearly every girl wishes to know at least that much of her future. Girls is kind of confiding anyway, and they ought to know something about the makeup of the gent to which they confide in. It is terrible thought for any girl to have, George, that she is likely to get hitched to a man with the face and figure of a Greek god and the intellect of a Slav shoveller. It's enough to give one the gooseflesh. That is why I often like to speculate about what is in store for me in them misty years to come."

"Well, I suppose the men ought to do a little doping out the future themselves," remarked the Head Barber. "Think how many poor Joes have took fair brides to the altar and then found out that the girls had married them for their money. I know a fellow who thought the girl he married was in love with him, and who got the cold shoulder from her as soon as she found out that he was only on a salary instead of owning the firm he was with. I guess the girls has as much right to confide in the men they marry as the men has to confide in them. And even when they confide in each other, marriage is still something of a confidence game."

Daysey Mayme and Her Folks

THE COST OF A SILVER THREAD

THERE was a time when Mrs. Lysander Josh Appleton burned her hot water bags, destroyed her medicine bottles, and threw herself for protection against all ills and aches into the arms of Encircling Good, and held the thought that she and all her family were well.

But one day a pain struck her that defied all mental argument, and she slid out of the arms of Encircling Good and mailed her medicine cabinet, adding eye-droppers, plasters, lotions, air bags and a thermometer.

"The articles in the newspapers on Health," she told her husband, "convince the wife and mother who doesn't watch the family temperature is a booger that thermometer that I may become a perfect wife and mother."

That evening when Chauncey Devere, flushed from the exercise, was telling who slid to first base and caught a fly, or something like that, he was suddenly grabbed around the neck and something shot into his mouth that caused him to choke.

"You have a fever!" exclaimed his mother an instant later, looking at a silver thread in her hand, "call the doctor quick!"

Chauncey Devere was hustled to bed. The doctor came; three calls, $15.

A week later, when Daysey Mayme passed over the border line from retail into wholesale in putting rouge on her cheeks, her mother thrust a glass bulb down her throat, and her efforts to fight against it raised her temperature two notches. Another doctor. Upstairs Daysey Mayme enjoyed his solicitude. Result, a $30 bill.

Lysander John came home tired and cross. Like all men, he knew only one way of greeting his family.

"Is dinner ready?" he asked.

His wife, like all women, replied that it was when it wasn't, and Lysander John pulled up his chair to the table.

He waited one minute, five, ten, fifteen, and then began to grumble.

He hadn't had a thing in his mouth since breakfast, he growled, when suddenly he felt a pair of hands grasp him and something was put in his mouth at last. It was hard and cold and was thrust down his throat till he began to choke, gasp and choke.

"No dinner for you," said his wife in a sweet voice, holding the thermometer triumphantly near the light. "No one with a fever should eat, and you are a degree and a tenth above normal."

Lysander John had a vision of bed, no supper, a doctor, more doctor bills, and with a quick spring caught the thermometer in his hands and dashed it to the floor.

"There is no use," sobbed his wife, "in a woman trying to be an ideal wife when she has a husband."

The Latest from Paris

FULLY DESCRIBED BY OLIVETTE

Many of the new French evening gowns are cut on Empire style, and though the draped girdles are wide, they are placed so high up that they do not destroy the Empire line.

Frequently, also, the top of the skirt peeps out above the girdle, as illustrated by the model of gold-spangled tulle we show you today.

The bodice, which is cut very low, is made of a swathing of the spangled tulle, which passes under the arms like a corselet.

This is held over the shoulder by soft straps of chiffon edged in strass.

A long scarf of black tulle bordered with strass fastens at the back, while a huge black velvet poppy trims the front of the waist.

The skirt of gold - spangled tulle is plain in front and scallops down over either hip to show a pannier effect formed by fulled insets of iridescent satin.

The spangled tulle is lifted at the back to make a long square panel that forms a train.

OLIVETTE.

This charming French evening gown combines beauty of line, richness of materials and those distinctive touches that delight the Parisienne. It is fashioned of white tulle spangled in gold.

Below the first tunic of spangled tulle is a second one of chiffon, shirred in front and lengthened in back in a bell.

The main part of the skirt is finished by a round train and is slit in front to show the petticoat.

The Amusement Question

A HOME PROBLEM EXPERTLY DISCUSSED

By DOROTHY DIX

PROBABLY there is no other one thing over which there is more friction in the average family than there is over the amusement question.

The man who has been hard at work all day meeting new people, seeing new faces, adjusting his mind to continually changing individuals and points of view, comes home tired. He wants to be quiet, and rest. Generally he is so nerve-worn that he doesn't even want to talk or to be talked to. It seems to him that no other amusement in the world is quite so delightful as just to drowse over pipe and paper in silence.

The woman who has been hard at work all day in the home is also weary when night comes, but her work has been monotony personified. She has done over and over again tasks that have become purely mechanical through constant repetition. There's nothing in sweeping a floor or washing dishes, or sewing up a seam, or darning stockings to exercise the mind and keep it alert. During the entire day she has possibly not seen a fresh face or had a single person with whom to exchange an intelligent thought.

So, when her day's work is over she craves something new and different, something with the thrill of excitement or interest in it. She wants to visit, to go to the theatre, to at least take a walk on the street and see the lights and the movement of people.

WANTS A CHANGE

The wife wants a change from the surroundings and the things she's been doing all day, just as the man wants a change from what he has been doing all day, and the environment that he has been in, and the pity of it is that these two desires are diametrically opposed to each other. Hence these quarrels and reproaches and tears.

The man complains: My wife is never satisfied unless she is gadding about at night.

The woman wails: My husband is never willing to take me out anywhere in the evening.

And both feel that they are very much misused, and both are right from their individual standpoints, and both are bitterly and entirely selfish, because each refuses to look at the matter from the other's point of view.

Certainly the man who has gone through the terrific strain all day that land will and brain to the very breaking point is entitled to a quiet evening's rest at home in which to build himself up to meet the strenuous struggle of the next day. He needs it. What is more, he must have it if he is to keep his grip in the fierce competition of modern business life.

No man whose wife drags him around of evenings to theatres and the opera and parties and dances and late suppers where he eats and drinks too much, can hold his own against the man who conserves his work with rested nerves and a brain cleared with eight hours' good sleep and a stomach at peace with itself and all the world.

Many a case of nervous breakdown that comes to a man just as he has success almost in hand is wholly and entirely due to his wife's having no conception of the double strain of work and pleasure.

So the woman whose love for her husband does not make her willing to stay quietly at home with him of evenings should be prompted to do so by her interest. If she wants to conserve his energies and strength and increase his money earning power, she will insist on the way to success, let her encourage him in sticking to his own fireside at nights instead of hunting up amusement on the outside.

There is no reason why any woman in these days of innumerable women's clubs, of ben luncheons, of bridge whist parties, of matinees, of afternoon tango teas, can't get all the social intercourse she desires and have in the day time, and she does need evening parties to sustain her spirits, in the case where her husband doesn't want to go out after dinner.

A WRONG VIEW

Of course many women, with a virtuous air, say that they don't enjoy things so much unless their husbands are along, and that therefore they prefer to go to places of amusement in the evening rather than the afternoon. Next. Any woman who takes that attitude is inspired not by love, but by the spirit of domestic tyranny. She's determined to make an unwilling gent go with her just to show that she can triumph over him. However, compromise is a good thing in matrimony as in everything in the world, and it has always seemed to me that it would be a good way to settle this question for the wife to demand, and receive a cash privilege of an evening off every week. It wouldn't hurt a man either in health or pocket to give his wife one little treat a week, and it would freshen and brighten her up amazingly, and keep her from nagging him the balance of the time.

As Thursday is the maid's day out, so let Saturday night be sacred with husbands to the entertaining of their wives. On that evening let them take their wives to the theatre, or to a restaurant for dinner, or a friend's for a bit of a party. It would break the deadly grind of domesticity for the women and rob them of their cause of discontent.

For, after all, marriage is no picnic to a woman, and just being married to a man isn't all the amusement she requires. Nor is it exciting to spend all your evenings sitting up looking at a man who is as dumb as an oyster and as unresponsive as a clam.

Matrimony needs some sort of outside amusement to meet it along. For both men and women.

The World's Gold and What Becomes of It

By GARRETT P. SERVISS.

MR. H. De Lansky, professor in the school of rocks and bridges, Paris, is one of the world's greatest authorities on the subject of gold. He has not, I believe, acquired any notable quantity of gold for himself, but he has accumulated an enormous amount of information about gold, and I have reason to think that if a good value was offered to him he would decline the gift, on the ground that the care of it would take too much valuable time.

Yet the time must be would grudge to the world of getting gold out of the earth he has willingly devoted to the less patently profitable occupation of watching the gold that comes from the ground, and finding out for what it is, or what finally becomes of it. Most people have very little conception of the devotion to knowledge and the strenuous work it, but everybody is benefited by the results. Mr. De Lansky has devoted his life to these results, and I venture to suggest that some of those results here, as I have already said, will be found to be of more than passing public interest.

Mr. De Lansky is one of a certain group of very rarely learned persons as neither their pull, nor all will can make them. They are born to it. Nothing in particular is known about their ancestors, and the chances are that they had none. Nothing is known about their early years, and they will not even return to succeed one of those results here, as I have already said, will be found to be of more than passing public interest.

The main part of the work of watching the gold that comes from the ground is done by others, but what is finally learned of it,

TRADE LEADERS SEE BOOM, JOIN AMERICAN 1914 SUNSHINE CLUB

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Leading business men continue to grow optimistic over the outlook for trade.

John A. Topping, chairman of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, said: "I look for improvement soon in general business."

James H. Dooley of Richmond, director of the Chesapeake & Ohio, says:

"The new currency law should be a stimulus to business, for I suggest that politicians will have a great part in the management of the system.

"I believe the Eastern railroads will receive an increase in rates from the Interstate Commerce Commission. With 5 per cent. higher charges on freight the whole country will be benefited by betterment in railroad finances and purchasing power, and by election time business in general should be very active. The merchant, on the other hand, would feel but little the effect of the increased rates."

Henry R. Towne, former president of the firm of Yale & Towne, and president of the Manufacturers' Association, said:

COUNTRY IN GOOD SHAPE.

"There is room for the pessimist today. Business is sharp and competition keen. The outlook is excellent. It is of the sort that must gladden all business men who have plans projecting into the future. The general trend is upward. I cannot ascribe it to any one thing nor to any condition except that made by business men themselves. I feel sure that by the end of 1914 all of us—business men of all classes—will be much satisfied."

James G. Cannon, president of the Fourth National Bank—"The hesitancy which was the feature of trade during the past two or three months seems to be passing away and conditions throughout the country seem to be improving. Our merchants and manufacturers are looking for a more hopeful attitude."

Theodore N. Vail, president American Telephone & Telegraph Company—"The country has never been in better condition for prosperous year than now. The country is a going concern. Everybody has money and they are only waiting to spend it. Business is waiting to learn the policy Congress is going to gauge the governments."

SEES SUBSTANTIAL BASIS.

Representative Rainey of Illinois, Democrat—"Business men have adjusted themselves with remarkable rapidity to the new tariff rates. Our exports and imports are as large or larger than ever before. I expect soon to see all working people employed and business going ahead with great strides."

Frank S. Hastings, vice-president and general manager of the Commercial Cable Company, said:

"A while back I was pessimistic. I am now most optimistic. Business conditions are on the upward grade and are becoming better by natural and healthy circumstances. I have recently talked to business men from the West and Middle West. They came to New York to better in financial circles many words of pessimism. They greeted them optimisms with smiles and laughter and said that the things that caused gloom in Wall Street gave birth to cheer in the other parts of the country.

* * *

"Of the future much depends upon the administration of the currency bill. Better still, much depends upon the personality of Mr. Wilson. I may safely say that in Mr. Wilson's hands lies the business future of the country."

Latest in Today's Stock Markets

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor.

Stocks were quiet after President Wilson read his message on "Big Business" to Congress, and if his utterances have any lasting effect in that line it will be to depress prices slightly.

Early in the afternoon in New York declines included Canadian Pacific, the Missouri Pacific and American Can 3, Steel 3, and Amalgamated 2. Among gains were those shown were Southern Pacific ½, Lehigh Valley ¾, New Haven ¼, American Smelting ¼, Texas Company ½, Baltimore & Ohio ¼ and Union Pacific ¼. Reading was unchanged.

In Boston New Haven was up ¼ and North Butte, Lake Copper & Mining and Boston Elevated each ¼. Boston Elevated down 1. American Telephone had receded ½ and Lake Copper ¼, but practically included North Butte & Superior and Granby.

OPENED QUIET AND STEADY.

Prices did not show much change when the New York market opened, but the tone was firm. There was the same hesitation which had been noticeable Monday, when Canadian Pacific weakened. Americans were irregular almost. Traders on both sides of the market were disposed to await the reading of his message to Congress by President Wilson, but it was generally expected that it would be more bullish than bearish. In some quarters it was believed that if this was true its effects had already been discounted, and it was thought that the price rise would continue this afternoon.

The decline in Canadian Pacific was attributed to operations by a clique pool with international connections. Utah Copper, Amalgamated, Chesapeake & Ohio, Reading and Great Northern lost a little in early trading but there were small gains for a number of issues. At the end of a half hour the list averaged a shade higher, but the changes were slight with the exception of Mexican Petroleum, which jumped fractionally until it showed a five-point gain, and Western Union, which advanced more than one. Some low-priced specialties were in demand and showed price improvement.

MONEY WAS PLENTIFUL.

Money rates indicated an increased supply of funds, the call quotation being 2 per cent, and those for time accommodations no higher.

Regarding the weakness Canadian Pacific, it was attributed not only to pool operations but to a statement that the system might find it difficult to finance its needs this year. Movements that are influencing upon the New York market except in the case of Southern Pacific, which touched a new high, but in London Mexican railways rose from 2 to 3 points on the ratification treaty and resign soon. There was a selling movement early in the day both at Boston and New York on reports of reports as to Emperor William being ill. The story was promptly denied.

There was not much activity in the second hour in New York except that the trading continued on a small a lower level, if may could be construed from movements. In noon Louisville & Nashville was off 1, Missouri Pacific and Canadian Pacific was still lower. Fractional declines were also in sustained by Amalgamated, Chino, American Smelting and Utah Copper, while Steel was off ¼. Among gainers were Chesapeake & Ohio, St. Paul, Erie, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Reading, Rock Island and Southern Pacific had receded. Union Pacific was a fraction higher.

STOCKS STAYED FIRM HERE.

The Boston market was firm at the opening and during the first half hour or so one quite active and relatively firmer than New York during the morning and coppers continued to be the feature extensively in trading than has previously been the case for some time. By middle hour changes were mostly to fractions in most cases, but the majority of active issues were slightly higher. Boston Elevated, off a point, was the weakest of prominent stocks. Mines in addition included East Butte, Greene-Cananea, Lake, Miami, Nevada consolidated, North Butte, Old Dominion, Reading and U. S. Smelting. Boston & Maine was a little worse.

FREIGHT RATE OUTLOOK.

Some people thought the President might refer to its use of railroads for higher freight rates when he spoke to Congress today, but when he was asked if he was going to touch on that subject, Mr. Wilson answered that he would be impossible while it is pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission. Any significant statement as to how he feels on the question of more revenue for roads is awaited as follows:

"It is regarded as certain that the President's personal view of that question to be given to the railroads of the country will be in favor of higher rates. It is believed that the commission will not act adversely to the wishes of the President, and that the railroads will be granted the increases they ask. Mr. Wilson's message to Congress today is expected to forecast additional legislation, especially as to financial conditions."

FINANCIAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

The London copper quotations market was firm, both spot and futures being 5s. 3d. higher at noon.

The price of seats on the New York Stock Exchange have advanced to $50,000. Two have just changed hands at that figure. The last previous price was $45,000.

Warren R. Locke, Samuel Carver and Andrew A. Highlands are among incorporators who have petitioned for a charter for the Tremont Trust Company.

Another shipment of $2,000,000 in gold is to be made from New York to Paris.

It is almost certain that there will be no imported show held at the Auditorium this year. The greatest objection to the show is the rental prices of the hall, which a year ago made such a pleasing frame for the cars made afterwards. THE FABLE OF MIGUEL AND MARIA

Why the Diggers of the Panama Canal Had to Send to the French and British West Indies for Labor.

By WILLIS J. ABBOT, Author of "Panama and the Canal in Picture and Prose."

Copyright, 1913, Boston Publishing Co., New York. All rights reserved.

Miguel lived on the banks of the Chagres River, about half way between Cruces and Alhajuela. To him Cruces was a city. Were there not at least thirty huts of bamboo and clay thatched with palmetto like the one in which he lived? Where he lived there was no other but within two or three hours' poling up the river, but close to the banks of Cruces were so close together you could almost reach one while sitting in the shade of another. At home after dark you only heard the cry of the whippoorwill, or occasionally the wail of a tiger cat in the jungle, but at Cruces one was always the loud talk of the men in the cantina, and at a town dance at least once a week, when everybody sat up till the cocks crowed to the beat of the drums and drinking the good rum that only Cruces had.

Now it will be noticed that in all this habitation sufficient for the needs of Miguel there is nothing except the iron pots and possibly some cloth which money was needed, and there are thousands of Miguels living in just this fashion in Panama today.

Peace Between Government and Great Corporations—PEACE WITH JUSTICE

The New Industrial Trade Commission That President Wilson Proposes to Congress. Origin of the Idea—Will the Commission Be Vested with Adequate Power?—Mr. Hearst Has Shown That What the New Law Will PERMIT Is as Important as What It Will PROHIBIT.

A STATEMENT by Mr. Hearst, expressing his conviction of the need of regulation of trusts and corporations, was published on January 10, 1904, more than ten years ago. It summarized what the Government of the United States is STILL STRIVING TO ACHIEVE IN 1914, and must achieve to restore general prosperity. He said:

"Intelligent and legitimate combination and co-operation in business are merely phases of higher organization. When they are legitimate and greater economy and greater efficiency are attained, the public is allowed to participate in the advantages.

"To my mind, therefore, it is the duty of government not to prevent the combination which is beneficial, BUT TO INSURE PUBLIC PARTICIPATION IN THE BENEFITS.

"To my mind, it is the duty of government to prevent over-capitalization and to control business of a public or semi-public character, WHENEVER IT REACHES THE POINT WHERE IT IS INDEPENDENT OF COMPETITION.

"The duty of the democracy to day is to fight trusts that are criminal, to punish ALL restraints of trade, but NOT reasonable restraints of competition.

"Those who attack indiscriminately or jealously the rights of the prosperous manufacturer, merchant, inventor, banker, or other legitimately successful man, are not democratic. They are as blind and stupid in their way as those who attack the rights of the union man who works with his hands.

"Those who restrain trade in any degree hinder and restrict the distribution of wealth. Those who restrain wasteful and destructive competition often benefit the country.

"I do not, therefore, oppose combination, but the abuse of it. The evil of monopoly ever lies in the misuse of it."

The control of the great corporations by the government in the public interest has utterly broken down. The result is due less to the weakness of the executive power than to the failure of the judicial power of the government to enforce the Anti-Trust law as Congress made it.

The intellectual convictions of Mr. Justice White have been more potent than President and Congress combined. We can easily show that this is so.

In the earlier decisions under the Sherman Anti-Trust law, particularly the Northern Pacific-Great Northern Railroad consolidation, and the Western Traffic Association cases—the two most important anti-trust decisions of a decade—a majority of the Supreme Court held that the Sherman Anti-Trust law meant exactly what it said: That ALL restraints of trade by interstate corporations were forbidden.

In both these test cases Mr. Justice White dissented from the majority of his associate judges. He held that the Anti-Trust law could not mean literally what it said. But he was in the minority, and his dissenting opinion had, therefore, no more effect than the opinion of an influential gentleman expressed privately.

But after the promotion of Mr. White to the Chief Justiceship, and the appointment by Mr. Taft of four new justices, the masterful intellect of Chief Justice White, or the mental bias of the new judges, enabled him to win the entire Supreme Court, except the illustrious Harlan, over to his opinion.

Chief Justice White still held that Congress did NOT mean what it said; he again affirmed that ALL restraints of trade were not necessarily forbidden; that the facts or circumstances peculiar to each case must be judged "in the light of reason," that the court could not lay down any rule of law which would apply to all cases, but that every separate suit brought by the government under the Anti-Trust law must be finally decided "in the light of reason" by the judges.

Seven judges voted with Justice White, and his opinion in the Standard Oil and the Tobacco cases, therefore, became the law of the land.

It left the "big business" of the country adrift in an uncharted sea, in which a corporation lawyer became the navigator of every great corporation. And the ablest corporation lawyer could only GUESS what the highest court would THINK was the law when any new questions of fact or group of circumstances were presented in any new case under the Anti-Trust law.

Nothing paralyzes business more than uncertainty. The prosperity of the whole country awaits the removal of this uncertainty. President Wilson knows it. He knows that business is waiting to learn what it can do, that the country has never been riper for expanding prosperity than it is today, and that only relief from uncertainty is needed.

In what way does President Wilson now propose to settle the trust and corporation question? By supplementing the Anti-Trust Act, and BY THE CREATION OF AN INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION TO HELP REGULATE THE TRUSTS.

On March 1, 1907, Mr. Hearst, then a member of Congress, introduced a bill to do exactly that. It was entitled "A Bill to Provide for National Incorporation and Control of Corporations Engaged in Commerce Among the Several States." It put in the form of a statute the declaration of his convictions published in 1904.

It PERMITTED legitimate consolidation and co-operation. But every consolidation was to be judged as to its legitimacy by the test whether the public could share in the advantages of the consolidation.

It forbade stock-watering or any form of over-capitalization; it forbade payments of dividends except from actual net earnings; it REQUIRED the fullest publicity; it ABOLISHED dummy directors by requiring directors to state upon oath and in detail in oral examinations the value of the property or properties before such properties were consolidated.

It PROVIDED for national incorporation and for supervision of industrial concerns engaged in interstate commerce in many respects, as the railroads are now supervised by the Interstate Commerce Commission, but not to the extent of regulating all prices.

The Hearst bill was introduced in a Republican Congress. The corporations were much more powerful in that Congress than the people. The bill made no progress there.

But the principles behind it were so important, the evils to be cured became in time so obvious and intolerable that President Taft sent a message to Congress two years later, urging legislation largely along the lines of Mr. Hearst's bill, and on February 7, 1910—within two years after the consideration of the Hearst bill by a committee of the House—President Taft's Federal Incorporation Bill was introduced in Congress.

It adopted almost in its entirety the provisions of the Hearst bill aimed at over-capitalization, but it did not abolish dummy directors, or fix responsibility or make guilt personal in cases of violation of the law. Mr. Taft's Administration finally lapsed into the sole control of the reactionaries, and his Federal Incorporation bill was never pressed.

Mr. Roosevelt, who had been indifferent to the principle of the Hearst bill as long as he was President, suddenly, five years later, adopted as his own nearly all its provisions. He attempted to regain the presidency in 1912, and one of the two conspicuous issues in the Progressive National platform was his recommendation of an Industrial Trade Commission to regulate all trusts, abetting and aiding the "good trusts," and punishing, even to destroying, the "bad trusts."

Mr. Wilson criticised this idea during his campaign for the presidency. He objected to "putting the government into partnership with the trusts." He suggested no definite remedies as a substitute.

As President, Mr. Wilson has not allowed himself to be fettered by the Supreme Court decisions. The Court held that the trusts are not to be governed by law, but by "the rule of reason." President Wilson has assumed that "the rule of reason" can be applied with much greater celerity by the President than by the nine Supreme Court judges.

In the cases of the New Haven Railroad, and the Telephone-Telegraph merger, President Wilson, has, therefore, applied his own "rule of reason," without bothering the nine judges of the Supreme Court. He has granted dispensations to these great corporations to do certain things, and forbidden them to do certain other things.

Few have criticised President Wilson for doing these things; the United States Supreme Court, indeed, set the example of doing them. But the Constitution confides no such power in the President, and, as a historian, President Wilson would probably be the first to admit that such exercise of power by a President, outside of the Constitution—a power greater than any emperor's or czar's—would NOT LONG BE ENDURED BY THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES.

To relieve an intolerable situation, President Wilson now turns to the Industrial Commission, which he so emphatically rejected when a candidate for President. He has prepared a message to Congress, outlining his idea of what powers the Industrial Commission should have over interstate industrial corporations.

If the bill is radical enough, it will go to the root of things.

It will remove most of the uncertainties that overhang the largest industries of the country.

It will tell business men what they may and what they may not do.

It will not disturb business; it will compose it and set it free in ways that are profitable to security holders and savings bank depositors and beneficial to the public.

It will end the long and stormy period of government by corporations and by corporation lawyers, and it will restore government by the people. It will mean peace between government and organized industry—PEACE WITH JUSTICE.

It will make certain a greater general prosperity than we have ever known as a nation.

Since the Tango Came to Town

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

MR. KNIGHTLY BARROOM SHOPPER says the tango is improper—
He believes the legislature should suppress the horrid craze.
All his friends are daily prancing through fantastic forms of dancing,
And at night they pick up pointers in the uptown cabarets.
Striking, strange, unheard-of poses and displaying silken hoses
He declares all cultured people should remorselessly frown down.
All his friends are on the wagon since they can't dance with a jag on,
And there's no one to get drunk with since the tango came to town.

Mrs. Simplywildta Gamble says it's very wrong to amble
Through the modern evolutions that they call the trot and glide.
"Women never ought to do it, is the way we nice folks view it;
Woman's place is by the fireside," she observes with modest pride.
"Furthermore, I once was able at the evening bridge whist table
To pick up a hundred weekly, for I generally win;
But instead of taking chances, all the girls now go to dances,
And I haven't won a dollar since the one-step has come in."

Colonel Goodness Whatta Glutton says he wouldn't give a button
To go skipping round a dance hall on immoral flying feet.
"Although most averse to knocking," he exclaims, "it's simply shocking.
Why, my crazy wife and daughters do not give me time to eat.
And besides the little flibbs, Sues and Sallies, Janes and Tillies,
That I used to take to supper have of late all turned me down.
So for me no more romancing, for I'm too blamed fat for dancing,
And I've had no one to flirt with since the tango came to town."

"Brains of the Atlantic Cable"

By REV. THOMAS B. GREGORY

MATTHEW FONTAINE MAURY, born one hundred and eight years ago, in Spottsylvania, Virginia, was one of the greatest and noblest of Americans. He did a mighty work, and, dying, left behind him a fame as clean as it was brilliant.

In 1825, at the age of nineteen, Maury entered the American navy, and in the Vincennes, during a cruise of four years, circumnavigated the globe. In 1836 he met with the accident which incapacitated him for active service, and he was placed in charge of the Department of Charts and Instruments, later on becoming head of the Hydrographic Office, which he himself may be said to have created.

Maury was the father of the United States Naval Observatory, and it was his profound discoveries that led to the famous international conference at Brussels in 1853 and to the subsequent establishment of the Meteorological Office. His "Treatise on Navigation" and his still greater "Physical Geography of the Sea" made him world-famous, and the highest honors of the nations were showered upon him.

The Emperor of France made him comander of the Legion of Honor, and he was knighted by the Emperor of Russia, the King of Portugal, the King of Belgium and all the other European monarchs. Medals and testimonials fell upon him thick as leaves in Vallombrosa, and but for his great good sense he would have had his head completely turned. As it was he received his many "distinguished considerations" as meekly as a blushing maiden, and never for a moment lost his perfect poise.

When the Brothers' War began in 1861 Maury "went with his State," and loaned to the Cause in which he so sincerely believed all the benefit of his unrivalled abilities.

It was of this remarkable man that Cyrus W. Field said, at a banquet in New York city, apropos of his Atlantic cable: "Maury furnished the brains, England gave the money, and I did the work."

Maury died in Virginia, February 1, 1873, in his sixty-seventh year, secure in the affection of all who knew him—and secure, also, in the fame that is so well merited by his brilliant mind and spotless life.

S. M. A.—The first "birds" were not much like those of the present time. The "Pterodactyl," supposed to be the pioneer of bird life, was a great feather-winged monster, with great spears on the hinges of the wings and a mouth full of shark-like teeth. The Pterodactyl did not sing, and could we have seen him we would not have felt like singing ourselves. True birds, and especially the warblers, are very late in geologic time. There was no bird-melody in the carboniferous jungles. The singers, in all probability, did not greatly antedate the human race.

Quaint Tales of Our Grandmothers

By REV. C. F. AKED, LL. D.

SIR WALTER SCOTT wrote the "Tales of a Grandfather." Somebody ought to write the "Tales of a Grandmother" before it is too late. Recent excursions into "Americanisms" and Britticisms" have brought to mind quaint phrases which are neither American nor British. They belong to the common stock from which our English speech has grown. Grandmother used them in her day and did not know that she was saying something strange.

Whose grandmother? Yours, to be sure, and mine, and the grandmother of anybody you like to name. Most of us have had a grandmother—one, if not more than one. Mine was a host in herself. Let her stand for the grandmother of all men and women everywhere who love the flavor of homely English speech and are not willing to let it pass from human memory.

She was a fine upstanding figure of a woman, my grandmother. She lived to be ninety-eight, and it was the disappointment of her life that she died before she was a hundred. She had a healthy contempt for persons who could not sit bolt upright or stand erect.

"As queer as Dick's hatband" was common on her lips, though I am bound to say that I never heard the description of the aforesaid hatband which is learned writer gives. He says that the peculiarity of it was that "it went round nine times and would not tie at last."

The reference is to the nine days' protectorate of Richard Cromwell, son of the great Oliver, uncrowned king of men. It is the fashion to regard Richard as a futile person and his nine days' "reign" as a ridiculous thing; but two men of letters, a Frenchman, Scribe, and an Englishman, Bulwer Lytton, have taken very different views. I confess to a weakness for Lytton's generous appraisal of Richard Cromwell, and in a day when the doctrine of "spoils" is revived I am inclined to wish that some other politicians would act in such a way as to give to the world an example as fine as that of Dick and his hatband.

Grandmother used to call a thing that was confused "all sixes and sevens." When we were sent out to buy a pound of tallow candles we were told to ask for "short sixes" or "long sixes," the short ones being stout and the long ones thin, and in any case running six candles to the pound. It is possible that at an earlier day some ran seven to the pound; and so things that were mixed were all "sixes and sevens."

"Higgledy-Piggledy," also said of things which had become mixed, which were "all sizes and sevens," goes back to the contents of a pedler's basket, heaped up in most admired confusion. "Higgle" is a weak form of the verb "haggle," that is, to chaffer about prices. A pedler was a "higgler," because nobody would dream of giving him the price he first asked. "Piggledy" the learned trace back to the newborn family of a female pig and to the confused heap of infant grunters called a "litter." For myself, I remain skeptical about the etymology. I am inclined to think that we owe "piggledy" to the inveterate habit of rhyming demonstrated in the folk lore of every nation. "Higgledy" quite naturally calls for "piggledy."

And the best of all was "a saucy moment"; yes, that was best of all. One of the girls was "a saucy moment," and we youngsters screamed our delight. We clamored for an explanation; but the old lady stalked off in high dudgeon, scorning to define. It was many years before light dawned. In "Romeo and Juliet" the fair daughter of the Capulets is described by her father as "a whining mammet," and "mammet" is clearly the equivalent of Shakespeare's "mammet." And Shakespeare is right, not grandmother. For a "mammet" was a doll and a "whining mammet" was a crybaby, a girl as childish as her own doll.

Curiously enough, the word is from "Mahomet!" And it does a black injustice to the great prophet of Arabia. For his religion took its rise in a protest against the veneration of idols. Yet "mammetry," a corruption of "Mahometry," appears in early English authors for "idolatry"; a "mammet" was a religious image—and afterward a doll.

These tales of a grandmother might go on forever. They have led us back to Mahomet and to Mecca. And—that is far enough.
